PREFACE

This volume is divided into two parts. The first chapters contain the ancestors and life stories of Andrew Lee Allen, his wife, Clarinda Knapp Allen, and their children. The other chapters contain the descendants of each of their children who married and left descendants. The families of each of the married children of Andrew Lee Allen are listed by generations with the marking at the top of each page as to which generation is on that page.

The ancestors were compiled by the author during a fifteen year period (1933-1948). The descendants were compiled mainly during the years 1946 to 1950 using a record compiled in 1890 by the family organization as a foundation. The family organization was dormant for fifty years (1895-1945) except for smaller individual family organizations.

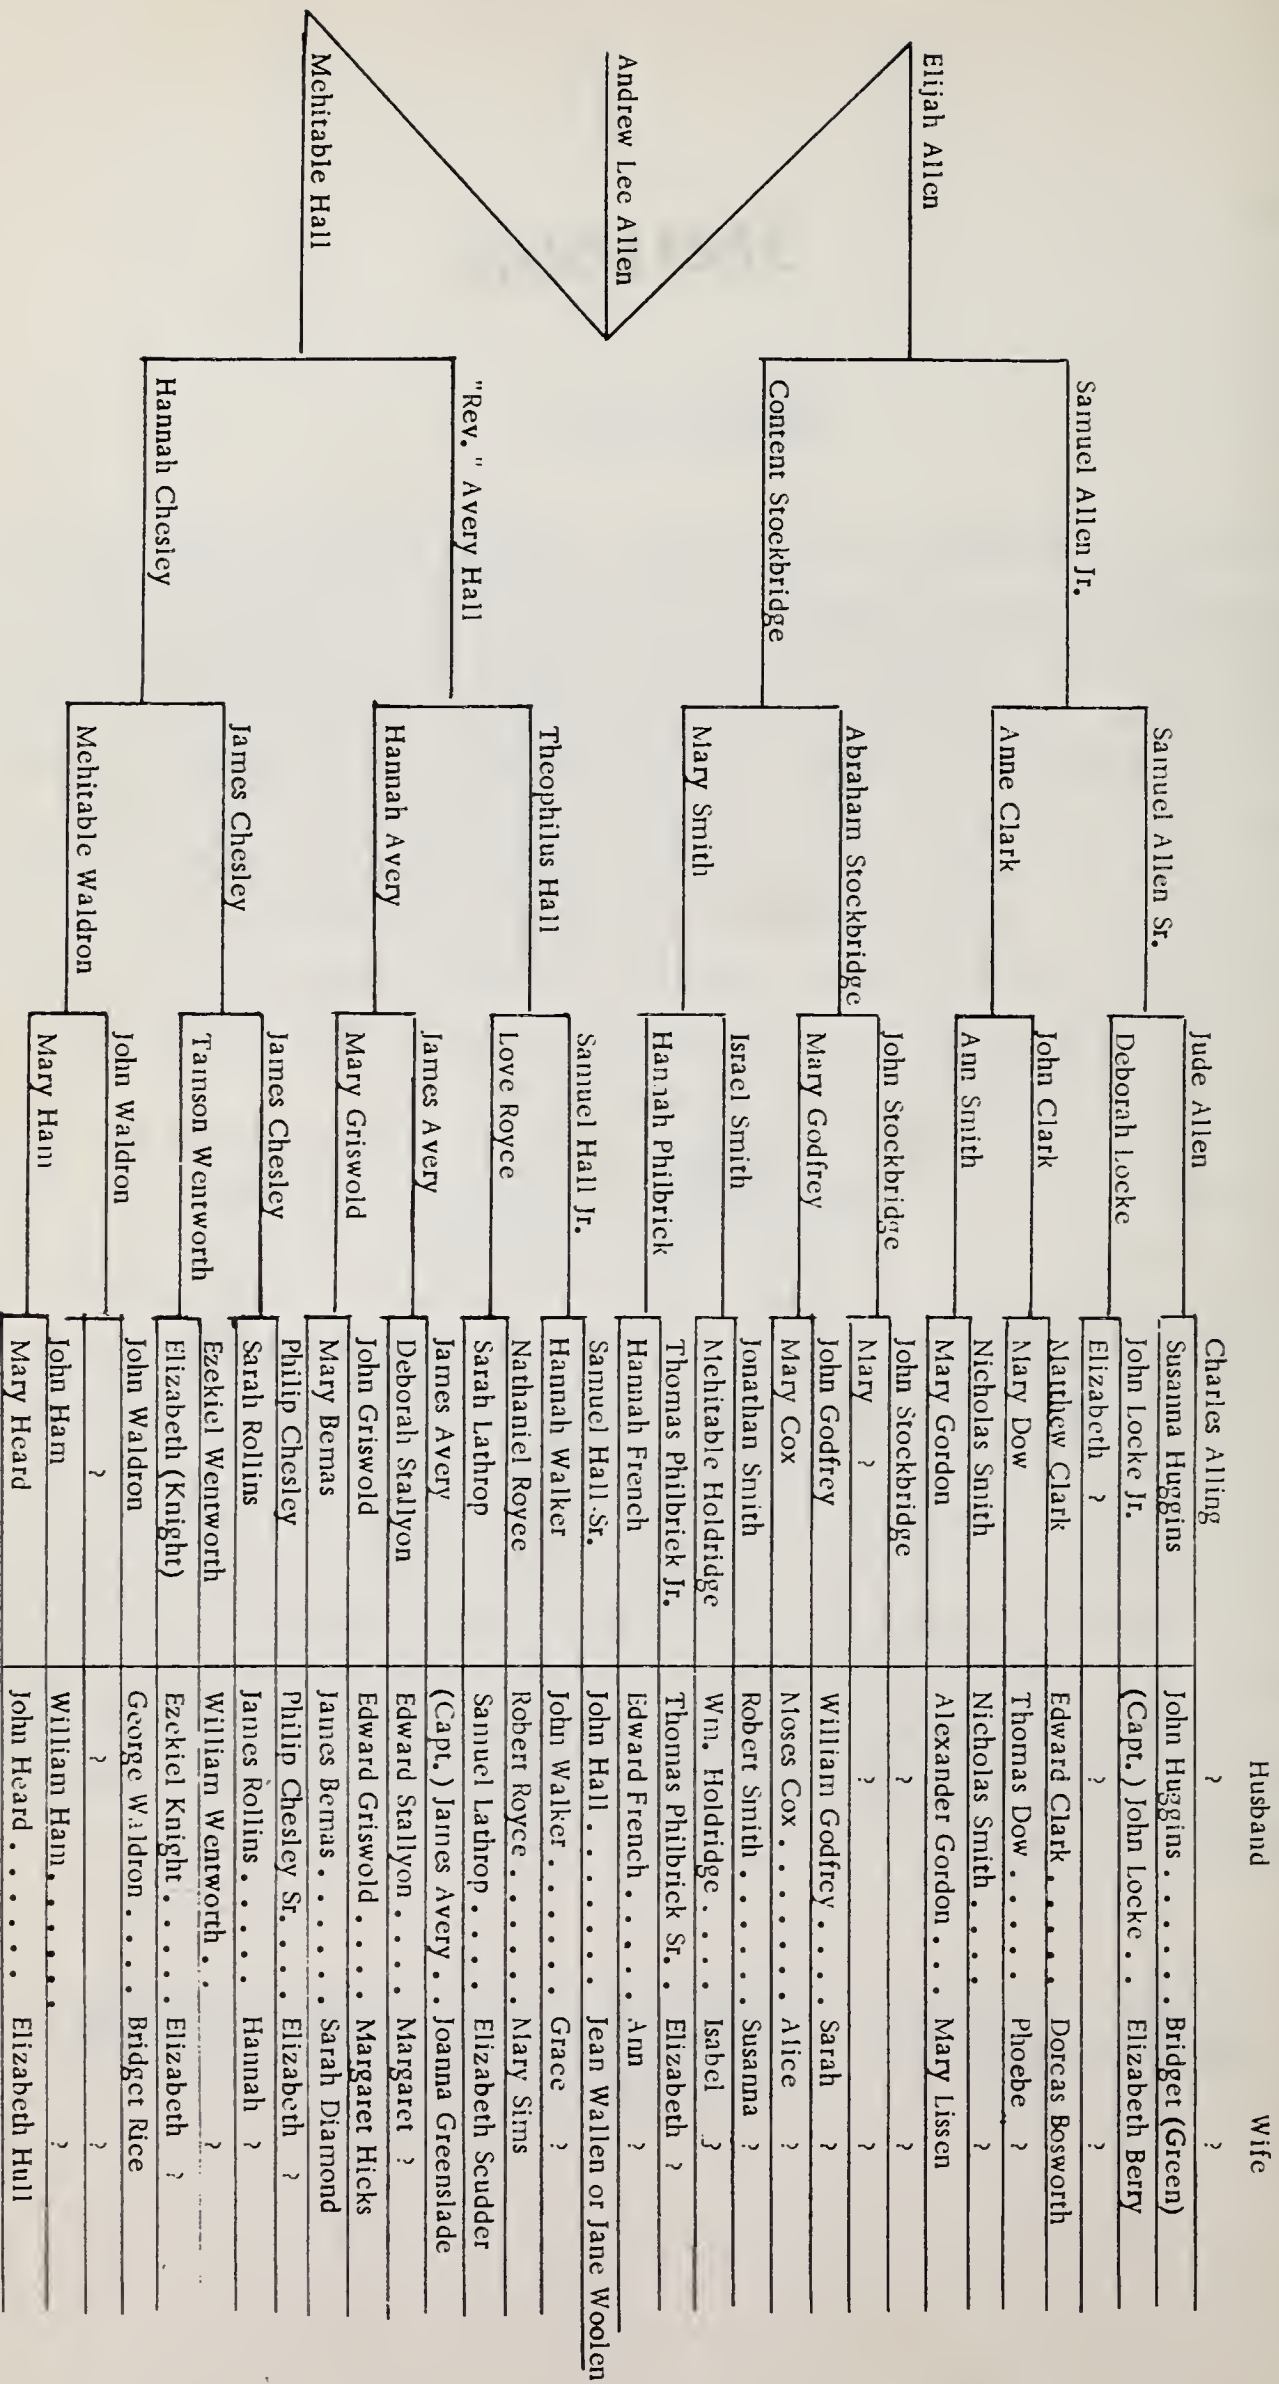

At the Charles Hopkins Allen Family reunion at Mesa, Arizona during the 1946 Christmas holidays, it was decided to reorganize the Andrew Lee Allen Association and to compile his descendants. The family undertook the stupendous job of compiling the descendants. After five years of strenuous effort this was practically completed. Two newsletters were sent out during this period to aid in compiling this record. I regret being unable to publish a perfect record of all Andrew Lee and Clarinda Knapp Allen descendants but feel the information collected is worth printing for the benefit of the coming generations.

I sincerely wish to thank the following people for their assistance in gathering information and for financial aid in having these facts published: The Charles Hopkins Allen Family Organization, The Levi Knapp Allen Family Organization, Walter Allen, David K. Allen, Orlando Allen, Saphronia Rennaker, Solomon and Rachel Allen, Vera Allen, Libbie Purser, Susie P. Allen, and Sarah Stoker.

ALLEN

CHARLES ALLEN, of Strawberry Bank (Portsmouth), N. H., is first mentioned as a participant in the distribution of land to inhabitants "unto the year 1657". Whence he came does not yet appear. Provincial Court Records, 1667, page 647, refer to "Charles Allen aged 40 or thereabouts", and again in 1683, p. 411, "Charles Allen about 60 years old." An average of these 2 items of record would establish his birth about 1625, the year Charles I ascended the throne of England. The next record found of him is in 1667, when he was published and married to SUSANNA HUGGINS, (bapt. 6 Sept. 1640), dau. of John and Bridget Huggins of Hampton, N. H.

This was the second marriage of Charles, for in a deed conveying his lands and property in Greenland, N. H. to Susanna Huggins, and dated 1666, he refers to his dau. Mary by a former wife. In 1671 his name appears as a subscriber for Mr. Moody's maintenance (a pastor fund). (Portsmouth Town Rec. 1:71). In 1688, "Charles Alling" appears among the inhabitants of Greenland, N. H. (Brewster's Portsmouth Rambles, 1st series, p. 61). Charles Allen died after the 7 Oct. 1705, for he appears on record in Vol. 7:175, Rockingham Co., N. H. Records of Real Estate transfers, as mentioning the following children by his second wife; Daniel, Charles, Susanna, Martha, Jude, and John. Children and their descendants.

1. Mary, b. before 1666, md. bef. 1685, Edward Fox, of Greenland, N. H. She md. 2d, 18 Oct. 1716 Hance Walford, and died in Greenland, N. H., Oct. or Nov. 1743, as Granny Woolford. She had by Fox the following 6 children and maybe others.

LATHROP

The family name Lathrop undoubtedly was derived from Lowthroppe, a small parish in the Wapentake of Dickering, East Riding, co. York, Eng. In and near this small parish lived the earliest known Lathrops, who spelled the name in various ways, some of the forms being Lowthrop, Lothrop, Louthrop, and Lowthroppe.

JOHN LOWTHROPPE was living in Cherry Burton, a parish about 4 miles from Lowthroppe, early in the 16th century. Although belonging to a junior branch of the family both in Cherry Burton and in various other parts of the county. Of his parentage there is no definite knowledge, the early parish registers having disappeared. No record of baptisms before 1597, none of burials before 1561, and none of marriages before 1562 now remain. He was assessed twice as much as any of the inhabitants of Cherry Burton parish 1545. Note: Lowthroppe is 4 1/2 miles northeast of Great Driffield. Having about 150 inhabitants. It is a perpetual curacy in the archdeaconry of York. Children:

JOHN LATHROP, bapt. 20 Dec. 1584, Etton, co. York. Eng. was a minister of the established Church of England at Egerton, Kent. Here he labored faithfully as long as he could approve the ritual on government of the Church. But, when he could no longer do this we find him conscientiously renouncing his orders. In 1623, he left the Church and joined with the Independents, becoming pastor of the First Independent Church of London for at least 8 years. They were forced to meet secretly. Agents of the bishop "tracked Mr. Lathropp and his followers to their retreat. Their meeting was suddenly invaded and 42 of their number were seized and sent in fetters to the Old Clink prison in Newgate. In the spring of 1634 all but Mr. Lathropp were released on bail, but he was deemed too dangerous to be set at liberty.

"During these months a fatal sickness was preying upon his wife, and bringing her fast toward her end. Of this sickness she died. He procured liberty of the bishop to visit his wife before her death, and commended her to God by prayer, who soon gave up the ghost. At his return to prison, his poor children being many, repaired to the bishop at Lambeth, and made known unto him their miserable condition, by reason of their good father's being continued in close durance, who commiserated their condition so far as to grant him liberty, who soon after came over into New England." He came in the "Griffin" to Boston, 18 Sept. 1634. He settled 1st at Scituate, Mass. and removed to Barnstable 11 Oct. 1639, where he was pastor of churches. He md. 1st 10 Oct. 1610 at Eastwell, co. ## LOCKE

'NATHANIEL LOCKE', of whom no contemporary evidence is found, was traditionally the father of John, Judith, Sabina, and Nathaniel. The theory is put forward that he came to Hampton 1660 (preceded by his son John) accompanied by a young wife Sabina (Hemins) and her children, that he soon died, and that his widow was that Sabina who md. William Marston, 1663, and John Redman, after 1673. Another source, the Locke Genealogy, states that John and Nathaniel were brothers, sons of a Thomas Locke, who md. 26 July 1624 Christena French. They had a son John, bapt. 16 Sept. 1627, and Nathaniel could be b. abt. 1629, bapt. 11 Nov. This Nathaniel is the one above who md. Sabina Hemins, and had Nathaniel, of Great Island 1671, worked on highways there Mar-Sept. 1672; soon died without issue. Sabina (Hemins) (Locke) (Marston) (Redman) d. 10 Nov. 1689.

JOHN LOCKE, Capt., Rye, carpenter, presumably nearly related to Nathaniel Locke and to William Marston's wife Sabina. By tradition 1st at Dover, N. H. but seen 1st at Portsmouth in Jan. 1656-7, getting 8 acres house-lot between John Jackson and William Cotton. He had md. abt. 1652 ELIZABETH BERRY, b. abt. 1635, dau. of William and Jane (---) Berry, who was liv. 1708. (see Berry). With her he sold his original grant and the buildings in Mar. 1660-1. In 1661 she deposed abt. the fight between the Abbot-Cate wives. Capt. Locke's Portsmouth fine remitted 1665. Oath of Allegiance 2 Oct. 1666. Abt. 1666 he settled, without authority, on Jocelyn's later Locke's Neck, now called Straw's Point, in Rye, then Hampton, and after much controversy was accepted inhabitant by Hampton 8 Mar. 1667, North Yarmouth witness 1672. Tr. J. 1684, 1685; gr. jury, 1689. Killed by Indians 26 Aug. 1696, supposedly 70 years; Minister Pike then called him Lieut. Wid. liv. when division made 4 May 1708, to be maintained by the adms. ## WENTWORTH

Reginald Wentworth, or as given in the pedigree, RYNOLD DE WYNTERWADE, who was living at the time of the Norman Conquest, A.D. 1066. As at that time there were no actual surnames, he was simply Reginald of Wentworth. In other words he was the possessor in Saxon times of the Lordship of Wentworth, in the Wapentake of Strafford, in the West Riding of Yorkshire. Yorkshire consists of three divisions, known as the North, East, and West Ridings. Each Riding is subdivided into a number of Wapentakes or Hundreds, and it was in one of the latter that the Lordship or manor of Wentworth was situated. Wentworth is in the parish of Wath-upon-Dearn, about nine miles from Sheffield, and 13 from Doncaster. The fact that he is described in Domesday Book as the lord of Wentworth, sufficiently attests his position, as one of principle men of his neighborhood, even at this early period. Nothing however is known of this family except he was succeeded by his son. The results of researches by Col. Joseph Lemuel Chester imply that, after the Conquest, the land or lands in Wentworth were in possession of Roger De Busli. Col. Chester says, "The inference is that Wentworth had former-held Wentworth, but that it had passed into the possession of De Busli. The name it is equally certain, existed before the Conquest, as the names of places were not changed, and here the Wentworths were Saxons and not Normans." I-REGINALD WENTWORTH had a son Henry. II HENRY had a son Richard. III RICHARD had a son Michael. IV MICHAEL had a son Henry. V HENRY had a son Hugh. VI HUGH, d. 1200 and had a son William. VII WILLIAM had a son Robert. 3. Mary, b. 1696, md. abt. 1725 Shedrack Logan.

4. Elisha, b. 26 Jan. 1697-8, md. 25 Jan. 1721 Elizabeth Mayo, dau. of Samuel Mayo, b. Eastham, Mass. It appears from the Register of Deeds, Boston, Book 70, p. 131, that Elisha Hamblin and wife Elizabeth of Eastham, Mass., on 3 Oct. 1738, conveyed land in Hingham, Mass. belong- to our grandfather Cornelius Canterbury, and others of our relations formerly belonging to said Hingham; the deed was acknowledged 15 Apr. 1742 and recorded 14 June 1745. This shows his residence in Eastham in 1738. The birth of their son Elijah is recorded in Orleans, then part of Eastham. No further account of him appears. Perhaps he went to Conn. where his sons and other relatives had removed. Had at least 2 sons. The will of James Hamlin, Eleazer's father, in 1717, mentions "my 4 grand children, the children of my son, Eleazer Hamlin, deceased." No names are mentioned. The Hamlin Genealogy lists a dau. Lydia in place of Rebecca. The widow Lydia md. again and had the following children by Thomas Snow, b. at Harwich, Mass.

1. Lydia, b. 24 July 1707.

2. Thomas, b. 15 June 1709, md. 19 Feb. 1730 Rachel Nickerson.

3. Aaron, b. 15 Feb. 1710-1 md.

4. Ruth, b. 23 Feb. 1712-13, d. 15 July 1717.

Since the widow Lydia named her next child Lydia in 1707, it would not be likely that there would be two Lydias in the same family living at the same time. Therefore the Hamlin Genealogy made a mistake in listing the first Lydia and it should have been Rebecca, who md. 11 May 1720 Judah Berry. The 1st Lydia never existed.

3. Deborah, b. Sept. 1639, d. 17 Aug. 1732, md. 1659 Zechariah Paddock.

Richard Sears will makes his brother Thacher a trustee of his estate and Thacher's son John calls Richard Sears "uncle". These terms led formerly to an assumption that his wife Dorothy was a Thacher, but that has been disproved, and it is now accepted that she was a Jones. Her brother Richard Jones of Dorchester, Mass., died intestate and his widow in the inventory referred to her brother Thacher and also made Anthony Thacher of Yarmouth a trustee of the estate. Samuel Jones son of Richard in his will in 1661, made bequests to his 6 cousins in Yarmouth. Thacher had 3 children by his 2d wife (Jones) and Richard Sears had 3 children.

OUR FAMILY

By Charles Hopkins Allen

Andrew Lee Allen was born in Limerick, York Co., Maine November 24th 1791. He was the son of Elijah Allen, who was born in 1763 at Stratham, Rockingham Co., New Hampshire and his first wife, Mehitable Hall, who was christened March 26th, 1769 at Rochester, Strafford Co., New Hampshire.

His mother died June 25th, 1800 in Corinth, Orange Co., Vermont and his father was remarried October 21st, 1809 to Hannah, widow of George Perry. His father died October 19th, 1839 at Limerick, York Co., Maine.

After his mother's death Andrew Lee Allen went to live with his maternal grandfather, Rev. Avery Hall, staying until he was 14 years of age. He worked at the blacksmith trade. Not being satisfied, he left home and never went back again. He went on shipboard to help protect the American vessels during the war known as the War of 1812. He left there and went into Canada, where he got into trouble with the British by drinking a toast at a barn-raising. The toast was, "he wished that the Eagle of America would triumph over the crown of Great Britain," for which he was arrested by the British. Making his escape he went into the state of New York, Cattaraugus Co., where he entered one hundred and sixty acres of land, and made himself a very nice home. He planned to settle down for life and he soon owned a large grove of sugar maple trees besides his prosperous farm.

On December 11th, 1824, he married Clarinda Knapp, daughter of Calvin and Deborah (Hopkins) Knapp. Clarinda was a refined, educated woman who was highly skilled in the arts of fine painting, sewing, tailoring, ladies' leg-horn hat designing, and homemaking. Her gentle upbringing had a great influence on the lives of those about her. She was a woman of true faith and was a Bible scholar.

They remained in Burton, Cattaraugus Co., New York until they had seven children, namely: Elijah, Lydia, Saphronia, Charles, Andrew, James, and Sidney. They had not joined any religious society but were honest and upright with all men, waiting for something to come along that would give them better satisfaction than the religions of the day.

In September 1833 there were two Latter-day Saint Elders who came through that part of the country and held meetings. Andrew Lee Allen was not at home at the time and did not hear them preach, but his wife, friends and neighbors did, and they were much impressed. When my Father came home Mother told him of the Elders and the Gospel that they preached and he became very anxious to hear them. He learned that they would preach at a place eighty miles from there and he concluded he would go hear them. This he did and he listened to the Gospel of Jesus Christ for the first time. He was much pleased and satisfied that it was true and he was baptized 3 September 1833 by Ezra Landing before he returned home. He received a testimony that never left him.

He went home and began to arrange his business according to the spirit of gathering which he had. He sold his beautiful home for a low price and moved to Kirtland, Ohio. Here he met the Prophet Joseph Smith and the Saints and rejoiced with them. It was here that their daughter, Susan, was born 31 December, 1837.

My father bought considerable real estate and paid a good price for it, but the price of land soon went down and he did not receive anything for it. He left and started West for Missouri. Because of sickness and the want of means, he stopped on the Illinois river at Bardstown and stayed through the winter. My father cut cordwood all winter and my brother Elijah hauled it. In this way we were sustained. We then moved back East to Virginia, Cass Co., Illinois, where we rented a farm from Mr. Levi Springer, who was a Methodist preacher. He treated us very kindly. There another son was born, 1 April, 1842. He was given the name of Levi, after the name of the good preacher. After farming there one year we moved about twenty-five miles farther East and rented a farm from a man by the name of Alfred Dutch, who lived on the road that led to Springfield. Mr. Dutch was very kind to our people. While we were living there, the Prophet Joseph was taken to Springfield to be tried on a false charge. The Prophet Joseph and his company stayed overnight on the 29th December 1842 with Captain Dutch, as he was called, and were kindly entertained. The women played on the piano and sang their beautiful songs. Captain Dutch spoke comical recitations and sang his songs. Sister Eliza R. Snow was with the company and composed some beautiful verses of which I remember a few lines as follows:

"There is Captain Dutch we cannot pass without a word of praise,

Who is the king of comic songs, as well as comic ways,
 And the fair lady of his house, the flower of Morgan Plain;
 Who from the soft piano brings such soul-enchancing strains.
 And now we are bound for home, my friends,
 A band of brothers true.

To cheer the hearts of those we love, in beautiful Nauvoo.

Chorus:

We will have a jubilee, my friends,
 We will have a jubilee.
 With heart and voice we will all rejoice,
 In that our Prophet is free. "

(This was composed on their way home to Nauvoo 7 Jan. 1843)

After living there one year, we moved back to Mr. Springer's again and lived there one year longer. Then we moved west again toward Nauvoo and stopped with Mr. Roberts, ten miles east of Carthage, where the Prophet and Patriarch were murdered. We became acquainted with Miner T. Deming who afterwards became the High Sheriff of Hancock Co. He was very friendly to our people.

While living there, another daughter was born on 8 June, 1844 and she was named Julia. This was all of my father's family--six boys and four girls.

Water became low in the streams while we were there which retarded the grist mill in grinding flour, so my brother, Elijah, and I were sent into Nauvoo to get our grist ground at the steam mill and it was there I saw the Prophet Joseph for the first and the last time. As we stayed in Nauvoo a few days we were looking around town and went near where the Prophet Joseph lived. He had a brick barn nearly finished and men were hauling hay into it. There was a gully or ravine washed out by the rain water running down by the side of the road next to the barn where the wagons had to cross with their loads of hay. The Prophet came along. I was standing nearby and heard what he said. He spoke to one of the boys and said, "I think this ditch or gully ought to be filled up so the wagons could cross better." In reply the brother said, "I think, Brother Joseph, that it would be better to put a culvert or bridge in there so when it rains, the water will run under the bridge and will not wash it out again." "Yes, yes," said the Prophet, "That is better. Even though you can outwit me I can throw you down." This made an impression on my mind that I have never forgotten.

While we were there, a very heavy hail storm came one evening and broke out the glass of the windows on the side from which the storm came, and it was a sad sight the next morning to look at the beautiful buildings in Nauvoo and see nearly every pane of glass broken on the side from whence the storm came.

On 22 September, 1842 while we were living near Plymouth, Illinois, Elder Thomas Crockett came to our house and baptized and confirmed six of the children, viz; Lydia, Saphronia, Charles, Andrew, James and Sidney.

In the Fall of the year we moved toward Nauvoo, and stopped on Camp

Creek, fourteen miles north and east of Nauvoo. Miner R. Deming had been elected sheriff and had moved up to Carthage, where he lived in the lower room of the stone jail. As we were moving up to Camp Creek, we passed through Carthage and were welcomed by Mr. Deming to stay overnight. We made several trips and stopped with him each time. My older brother, Elijah, and I were allowed to go through any part of the jail that was not occupied. We went into the room where the Prophet and Patriarch were when they were so cruelly shot and murdered outright without any cause. We looked at the blood-stained floor and the ball hole through the door. The ceiling was knock-off in many places. It made us feel very sorrowful.

We moved up to Camp Creek and rented a farm from Mr. Hibbert, where we farmed one year and raised a good crop of corn. We could not get anything for it there, but by hauling it to Nauvoo, fifteen miles away we could get ten cents a bushel for it. As I was the oldest boy at home, I started to haul corn to Nauvoo with two yoke of three year old steers. I hauled nearly all winter. My older brother, Elijah, had gone away from home to look for work. He started west and traveled a number of days, crossed the Mississippi River and traveled through the country for sometime and failed to get work. On his return he came to Nauvoo and called at President Brigham Young's home and asked for counsel. Brother Young told him that he could stop with him and go to work, which he did, and lived with him until the Church moved West. He drove a team for President Young through to Winter Quarters on the Missouri River where he enlisted in the Mormon Battalion and went through to California. He served one year in the Government service, and was discharged at Los Angeles on 16 July 1847.

When I was hauling corn to Nauvoo I stayed at President Young's where Elijah was living. I became well acquainted with the family and was much pleased and well entertained by the young ladies of the house. Vilate, who was Brigham's daughter, and Susan Divine, who played on the piano and sang their beautiful songs, made the time pass very pleasantly during the long winter evenings.

Mr. Miner R. Deming was acting in his office in Carthage as sheriff of Hancock County and he was standing up for the rights of the Latter-Day Saints. For this reason the people of the State were angry with him and his life was threatened by the mob. He was somewhat uneasy so he came to Nauvoo to President Young to get counsel as to what to do. One morning, after President Young had eaten his breakfast, he started to go up to the Temple, as was his custom. He met Mr. Deming at the gate. I was standing a short distance away and heard the conversation between them. He told President Young what he had come for and wanted to know what he had better do under the circumstances. President Young told him to go back and stand up for the right, which he did. They were holding court in Carthage and the excitement was running very high. There was one man who was void of principle and good behavior, who wanted to make a disturbance in court. He was intoxicated and came in the courtroom and commenced to abuse Sheriff Deming. When the sheriff commanded peace, the man would not listen, but took the sheriff by the throat and pushed him out of the house. Not being satisfied with that, he continued pushing him out of the yard. Mr. Deming then drew a pistol and shot the man dead on the spot. The law justified him in doing it, but Mr. Deming felt very much distressed over the matter and was worried a great deal. He soon took down with fever and sent for the doctor to attend him. It was said that they poisoned him, for he died soon after.

On 27 January 1846 my father and mother went into Nauvoo and received their blessings in the Temple of the Lord. Later my father was ordained a High Priest 10 June 1847. In the spring of 1846 we crossed the Mississippi River and started west with the Saints. It was very rainy and muddy which made it slow traveling. My mother was feeble in health and my oldest sister, Lydia, was also afflicted with poor health (asthma) and they suffered a great deal as they were exposed to wet and cold with only one wagon for eleven in the family. As we had no tent some of us were obliged to sleep out on the ground in the open air in rain and storm.

We traveled on and stopped at Mt. Pisgah where we built a log house and put in some wheat and corn. As our supply of food was about gone we were obliged to go on and leave our improvements for others to enjoy. We traveled to Winter Quarters on the Missouri River and were obliged to go down into the state of Missouri and work for provisions. We traveled about seventy-five miles down the river and stopped with Mr. Cole in a small log house where we stayed through the winter. We worked harvesting corn and splitting rails. In the Spring of 1847 we moved down on the bottom to farm with Mr. Jacob H. Rose and we raised a large crop of corn. There was a Government Post about sixty miles up the river and I started to haul corn to it expecting to sell it and get something to help us along. As the post was on the west side of the river, it was not convenient to cross the river during the winter on account of the floating ice that was floating most of the time. I decided to put the corn into the crib near the river and keep hauling until some time in February when the ice would freeze over sufficiently to bear up wagons. When it was frozen over, my younger brother, Andrew, and I went up and hauled corn over for a day and a half. Then it turned warm and the ice began to break. As we were hauling with cattle we hitched them three or four chain-lengths from the wagon, so if the wagon broke through, the oxen and wagon both would not go down. About four o'clock in the afternoon, we had gotten about one third of the way across the river with a big load of corn, when the wagon broke through the ice, and the corn floated down the river to make a good bait for the catfish. We got help and got the wagon out and went home. That was the last time we got across the river. We left the balance of the corn in the crib and got nothing for it.

In the Spring of 1848 we moved up towards Kanesville and stopped on Keg Creek, eighteen miles south of Kanesville where there was a small branch of the Church organized with Elder Libeus G. Coons presiding. We stayed there four years and opened up and improved two farms. My brother, Elijah, came home from California in the fall of 1849 while we were living on Keg Creek. The first summer it was thought best for me to go down into Missouri to work out and get some means to help the family out. I started out afoot and alone, and traveled about a hundred miles, then stopped at a little town called Aragon, and went to work in the harvest field. I worked all through the harvest binding wheat for seventy-five cents per day. I was there on the 4th of July. They had a very grand celebration. There was a very long table, set in the grove, which was well loaded with roast beef, turkey, and everything that was desirable to a hungry man. Everybody was welcome to eat. After the harvest I returned home and worked on the farm with the boys.

The next summer I went again but not so far down into the state of Missouri. I worked for wheat and went back and got the ox team and hauled it home for bread and seed.

In the fall of the year before we started to Utah, Brother Elijah thought each of us had better take a team and go down into Missouri and buy up two loads of apples as they were selling in Kanesville for a good price. We started out and traveled down into Missouri some distance below St. Joseph and stopped at a Mrs. Thornton's who was a widow. She was well-off and had a large plantation and lots of negroes. We were treated very kindly and were invited into the house to eat our meals with the family. We bought fifty bushels of apples from her and loaded our two wagons and started home. We stopped at St. Joseph on our return and called on General Doniphan who was a son-in-law to Mrs. Thornton, and also was a merchant in St. Joseph. He treated us very kindly and made us some presents from the store. We returned home after a long and hard trip. Levi, now seven, wanted an apple so badly but was told we must sell them for money to go to Utah. He was happy to get one very small apple. (Levi remembered this very vividly when he was 86 years old).

While working out fifty miles from home I met with a serious accident which nearly cost me my life. While cutting wood the ax glanced and nearly cut my foot off at the instep. Father and Mother came and took me home where I was on crutches six months. During this six months Saphronia married Jacob Rose. They moved to the junction of the Missouri and Platte Rivers and established two ferry boats in 1849. Many were traveling through to California for gold so they did pretty well. My oldest brother, Elijah, and the younger boys established a saw mill near father's farm and ran it one season before they sold it for $1,000.00. They used the money to get ready to come to Utah.

In the spring of 1852 we sold out our farms and prepared for starting west with the saints. We went in the first company of 100 wagons. John M. Higby was the captain. Father was an excellent hand with his teams, took very good care of them. Andrew Lee taught his sons to take good care of their animals and it was said by people in the Company that the Allen team was the best in the company and got to Utah in the best condition. Father was an excellent rope maker, and also knew how to dye for bright colors from the weeds and herbs for his tassels and decorations for his harnesses for his oxen.

Our trip to Utah was a long and tiresome journey. We were about two months and a half on the road. We arrived in Salt Lake City the 13th of August 1852. In traveling up the Platte River I came near losing my life. We camped for dinner one day by the river. Brother Clinton and I took a notion to swim across the river and see some immigrants that were camped on the other side. We swam with our clothes on and got over pretty well for the current was in our favor. After we had stayed awhile and found out all we could, we started back, but the current was against us. Our clothing and shoes filled with sand which made it very hard for us to swim. We strove hard against the current but were carried down stream for a long way. There was a point of land that came out into the stream on the opposite side of the river and we were trying with all our might to make that point. We were almost exhausted but we exerted all the strength we had and were about to give up as lost when we were going past the point, we let our feet down and found that we could touch the bottom. We made our way out and were very thankful that our lives had been spared.

We saw a good many buffalo on the road and the hunters killed several which was a great treat. We thought it was the sweetest meat we ever ate. When we got up to the Black Hills our teams began to fail. Their feet became tired and sore. When we got to Sweetwater some of our cattle got poisoned on the alkali and died on the way. When we got within 110 miles of Salt Lake City, we came to Fort Bridger. A mountaineer, Mr. Bridget had lived there about 20 years. He said that we could not raise a bushel of grain in that country on account of frost. He said there was frost there every month of the year.

When they reached the Green River it was so high that it was necessary to raise their wagons six inches high in the bolster in order to keep their loads dry. The train of wagons was quite long and were obliged to make a circle up the river to keep on the ford or in shallow water. The loaded wagon went over very well. Each teamster was requested to wade through the river to drive his team, tying a rope to the ox on the near wheel (front right wheel) and holding on to it as they waded across. The last wagon got into the middle of the river in deep water. The current struck the wagon box and sent it rolling down the river. A woman in the wagon screamed for her life. The back wheels of the wagon came loose and went down the stream leaving the man with the team and front wheels standing in the river. The men seeing the woman in the box rushed in and got her to safety and a Brother Patten on a horse went in and helped the man out. They made a cart of the box and front wheels and went their way very thankful.

We stopped a few days in Salt Lake City and then moved south to Provo and made our home there. I hired to David W. Rogers to run his saw mill during the fall and got lumber to build a house. I went to Brother Edwin McGreen's school during the winter. Sidney, James, and Levi herded the cows of the community by the Provo River. Their lunch was one or two slices of dry bread which they would soak in the River and eat. Levi dreamed of the time he could raise lots of fruit trees. From that time forward wherever he lived he always managed to plant fruit trees for he had had such a little fruit when he was a growing boy.

The next fall there was a call for a company of men to go out east and build a fort. About forty men went from Bountiful and Farmington. Brother John Nebeker went first and commenced to build a fort. They went out east to Fort Bridger, 110 miles, then went about 12 miles southeast and located on what is called Black's Fort. Brother Bullock was called to take charge of the company from the south in which my brother, Andrew, and I were called to go. We started out late in the fall and crossed over the high range of mountains which were covered with snow, making it very hard to cross. We went on and joined Brother Nebeker's company. The fort was laid off about forty rods square and there were log houses built on two sides. The other two sides were closed in by cutting and hauling pine logs, sixteen feet long and about one foot in diameter. These were sharpened at the top. They set the butt end in the ground four feet, then put poles between to batton in between. This made a good substantial fort. At one side we put in a large gate and drove our stock inside every night to keep the Indians from driving them off.

There were a few wagons that went back to Salt Lake City during the winter to bring out seed grain. They returned early in the spring and we went to work putting in the spring crops. Elder Orson Hyde, one of the Apostles, came out to see us early in the winter and as he was in charge of the mission, he gave us some good advice and counsel. Before Brother Hyde came to see us, some of the boys had indulged in playing cards and dice and other games in the long evenings. He persuaded them out of the practice. He told them to shun the very appearance of evil, and I did not see another game played while I was there. We held our meetings two and three times a week. We bore our testimonies one to another and enjoyed ourselves very much during the winter.

Late in the spring my younger brother, James, came out to see us and stayed several weeks. I, with a few others, was released to go home soon after and a little later others were released to go home. Then finally they all went to work building walls around the city of Provo. The wall was to be four feet thick at the bottom and twelve feet high and two feet thick at the top. It was built by setting poles in the ground and fastening the tops together far enough apart to put boards inside to make the wall the right thickness. The dirt was set and worked into a good mortar, and placed inside the boards and left there until the mortar got dry enough to be removed, and so on until we got it built to the top. It would dry as hard as adobe and made a good substantial wall. A man was required to make a rod of wall for every lot that he owned in the city. We built a rod of wall for every lot we owned, then went to work for other people and built quite a number of rods of wall and took cattle and wagons in payment. This way we got us each a team and wagon.

I was ordained a teacher by Elias Blackburn, Bishop, in 1853, and labored with Brother Tedrow for some time.

As Charles C. Rich and Amasa Lyman had purchased a ranch in Lower California in San Bernardino and had given their notes for forty thousand dollars and were wanting help to pay for the ranch, and as there was quite a company going through to California, Brother Andrew, Brother James, and I concluded to go through with them. I will give some of the names of those who went through with the company; John Brush and family, James P. Hiron and family, Marion Haws and family, Brother McCarry and family, and Andrew J. Workman and family. There were others in the company.

We started out about the first of October 1855, down south through the south settlements, to St. George, on to Santa Clara where we began to have some trouble with the Indians. Brother Hiron fell behind a short distance from the company and the Indians stepped in front of him and asked him to give them something to eat and some other things as shirts and pants or they would not let him go on. He gave them some shirts and pants and satisfied them sufficiently that they let him go. After that he found it convenient to keep up with the company.

As we traveled down the Rio Virgin River about 40 miles it was very sandy and hard traveling and the weather was pretty warm. We traveled late in the evening and as we camped one night after driving rather late, we drove our cows up to milk them and found several of them had been shot with arrows for they were yet sticking in the cows and we pulled them out. The Indians had shot them from the roadside as we traveled in the night.

We left the Virgin River and traveled over the bench land about 25 miles to Muddy Creek where there were a great many Indians living and farming. They were not hostile, but they were very troublesome and annoyed us very much by stealing many small articles around our wagons, which made it necessary for us to keep a sharp lookout. After resting our cattle for one day, we started over a sixty mile desert. The roads were somewhat sandy and very hard traveling. We were not prepared to take much water with us and we got very thirsty before we reached the Las Vegas Springs. There were quite a number of our brethren living there and making farms. We traveled on as best we could and were traveling late the second night, when about 12 miles from water one of the wagon tires came off the wheel of Brother John Brush's wagon and he was forced to stop there until morning. He unyoked his oxen and sent them on with the company to water. We left what water we had with him which was very little. In the morning he put the tire on the wheel and waited there quite late in the day for the boys to drive his oxen back to him which they had promised to do. He got out of water and became uneasy and started on foot to water. But when he had traveled about two miles, he met the boys with the oxen and water. They went back, yoked up the oxen and drove on to water. We stayed there a few days and some of the boys traded horses for cattle and then we started on our journey which was very hard traveling. There was one desert after another almost all the way to San Bernardino.

After we had traveled for a few days we came to the Resting Springs. There we found four fat mules which had been lost by a freight train some time before and the boys caught them and took them along with us. We had not seen any Indians for several days and we began to scatter out and travel on as best we could, the best teams getting on to water first. On one of these deserts a Brother Borin came near losing his life. I was well acquainted with Brother Borin. On a previous journey with a party from Provo, Brother Borin had stopped overnight while the rest of the party went on to Salt Springs. The next morning after traveling some distance on the desert, Brother Borin started on foot and alone leaving his wagon and driver to follow. He thought he would go on to the Salt Springs where there would be some of the company camped who had gone on the day before. He walked much faster than his wagon traveled and was soon out of sight of the wagons and was about five miles from the Springs. He looked toward the mountains on the right and saw one lone Indian coming toward him. He walked faster hoping to get to the Springs before the Indian should get to him. But the Indian walked faster when he saw the man hurrying on. Brother Borin had no weapon with him except an old pocket knife. The Indian soon took in the situation. He had a good bow and plenty of arrows, so he came in front of Brother Borin and told him to pull off his shirt and give it to him. When Brother Borin told him "no" and started on his way, the Indian stepped in front of him again and drew his bow and arrow. Brother Borin thought he had better begin to take off his shirt. He snatched hold of the bow instead. They had a scuffle for it, but the Indian was so strong that Brother Borin could not take it away from him. After they had scuffled for some time and neither prevailed, Brother Borin thought of his old pocket knife. If he could just get it out and cut the string on the bow, he would have a pretty good show for his life. He managed to get it out and about got it opened when the Indian, thinking he was going to stab him, let loose of the bow and arrows and ran for dear life. That was the last he saw of the Indian, Brother Borin took the bow and arrows with him into camp and was thankful to get off so well.

We traveled on to Bitter Springs and passed the place where Thomas Williams and Jackman were shot by the Indians a short time after we had gone through. They were going through to San Bernardino for some goods with a mule-train-freight, to take to Salt Lake City. They had two Indians traveling across the desert with them who herded their animals at night. The Indians had been very trusty and had been thought they were quite safe. When Williams and Jackman had laid off their pistols for the first time on the road, they got on their horses and rode some distance out on the desert to look for feed as it was scarce in that part of the country. They took the two Indians with them so they could tell them where to herd the animals on the best feed. After they were away from the road several miles the Indians, who were afoot, came close to them and began shooting arrows into them. The men had no fire-arms, and all they could do was to put spurs to their mules and go for their wagons. But they did not get out of reach of their arrows until they were both mortally wounded. Thomas Williams died soon after he had reached the wagons, and was buried there on the desert. Jackman lived about three weeks. He turned the train around and started it back to Salt Lake City while he took the best team and pushed on to California, where he could get help. He died a few days after he got in.

We traveled on from there in a scattered condition, the best teams getting through first. After we struck the Mojave River we traveled up that about forty miles then crossed over the Sierra Nevada Mountains, into San Bernardino, California. We went over into the timber, onto the "bottom" and camped near Gilbert Bickmore's. He was a relative to us by marriage. There was a company of men preparing to go out on a hunting trip. My brothers, Andrew and James, concluded to go along with them. They traded for some horses and went along. I stayed to keep camp. I had not been well for some time and was taken down sick with mountain fever a few days after they had gone. I was very sick and came near dying. I went to Gilbert Bickmore's home to be taken care of. I was somewhat neglected and the fever ran on for about twenty days. I became very weak and the folks had given up all hopes of my living. When my brothers came home, I was very low. They had been up in the mountains about fifty miles to hunt bear. They returned to Brother Bickmore's home and he told them I was not expected to live, and advised them not to go in or disturb me until morning but they could not wait. They came in and talked to me and I was glad to see them. They watched over me day and night until I was better. They went up to town and got Charles C. Rich to come and administer to me and the fever soon left me and I commenced to get better until I was stout and healthy.

We fixed up our wagons and went to hauling lumber from the Jefferson Hunt sawmill in the mountains about twelve miles from San Bernardino into the town, for which we got fifteen dollars per thousand. We purchased sixty acres of land from Brother Rich off his own ranch and we gave our note for six hundred dollars which we paid along as we could. We made each of us a good home. After we had been there about two years there was some freight to be hauled through to Salt Lake City. I rigged up a six mule team, and my brother, Andrew, a four horse team and loaded for the trip to Salt Lake City. It was a very tiresome trip across the desert. We traveled day and night a good deal of the time. We stopped in Provo at my father's house and stayed all night. My younger sister, Julia, had died since I had left home, and my sister, Susan, had married John Goaslind and had moved to Ogden to live. My brother, Elijah, had moved to Fort Herriman across the Jordan about twenty miles southwest from Salt Lake City. We unloaded our freight in the city and went to Fort Herriman to see him. Then we went to Ogden to see Susan and made them all a nice visit. My sister, Lydia, was living at home (being an invalid) and also my mother being weakly, we thought that it might be good for their health to go to California. It was in the spring of the year and we took them, along with my brothers, Sidney and Levi, and went back to San Bernardino. The water was very high crossing the Rio Virgin River which we had to cross about sixteen times. Some of the small mules had to swim about seven of the crossings. After a long and tiresome journey we got through to California all right.

My sister, Saphronia, had married Jacob H. Rose and had gone north through to Carson Valley in Nevada where there was a branch of the church organized with Orson Hyde presiding over it. I received a letter from my sister stating that her health was poor and that she would come down to San Bernardino if one of us would come after her. It was decided that I should go so I got ready and started up the coast on the water. I went to San Pedro, a seaport, and got on a steam-vessel called "Senator", and started out on the sea for the first time. I was a little seasick but was able to eat my regular meals. We were out of sight of land for about a half day. After sailing about three days and nights we arrived at San Francisco and entered the Golden Gate which was about one half mile wide. We sailed into the beautiful bay which was about twelve miles across. I stayed all night in San Francisco and in the morning I got on a small steamboat called "Antelope", started across the bay and entered the mouth of the Sacramento River. We went up the river one hundred and fifty miles to Sacramento City. As we were running up the river we collided with a small fishing boat. There were three men in it. The moon was shining brightly that night and as I was standing on the front of the boat, I saw the boat with the three men in it and heard them say, "Hold on, hold on." But our boat could not stop quickly enough and struck the little boat and capsized it. The men were heard below calling for help. A small boat was lowered from the steamer and sent back after the men. It reached them and got them on board. They were taken to Sacramento.

I had breakfast and took the train to Fulsom which is about twenty-five miles from Sacramento City. It was the only railroad in California at the time. I then took the stage and went to Hangtown, and from there we crossed over 100 miles of Sierra Nevada Mountain range and reached Carson City, Nevada. The mountains were covered with large pine timber which made the road very rough. The road was nearly all dugways up one mountain and down the other all the way over the range. I went to Carson City and on to the Carson River to Chinatown where my sister and brother-in-law were living. There were a great many immigrants who came across the plains and around the north route to Carson Valley.

There was a great deal of excitement about the gold mines about that time. I stayed there through the winter. The snow fell heavy on the mountains (it was said to be 15 to 20 feet deep.) It stopped all travel for about six weeks, in which time flour came to the price of $75 per hundred and other things in proportion. There were quite a number of rich goldbeds struck during the winter. The Comstock bed was struck that winter while I was there. It was supposed to be the richest mine struck in that part of the country. Also the Virginia bed was struck. My brother-in-law had taken the water out of the Carson River onto a large gold flat where a man could wash out about five dollars a day. He had the Chinamen working on it on shares. Brother Orson Hyde had built a sawmill in the upper part of the valley and had gone to Utah and left it in care of Mr. Rose. Lumber was bringing in a good price in the mines and I hauled lumber out to the mines and got sufficient money to take myself, my sister and her little daughter, Jane, back to San Bernardino. We started late in the spring on account of there being so much snow in the mountains. We went on horseback the first part of the way and then to Sacramento, then down the river to San Francisco, stayed overnight there, took the steam vessel to Lower California. We landed at San Pedro, took the stage to Los Angeles where we stayed all night and caught the stage in the morning. We traveled fifty miles that day and arrived home in the evening.

We were glad to get home and our folks were glad to see us. My mother and sister, Lydia, had improved in health. Brother Andrew had put up a wagon shop and was at work making and repairing wagons. Brother James was doing the iron work. Brother Sidney had gone back to Utah, and James had married Mary Mathews. We worked on until the fall of 1862. My mother had a desire to go back to Utah and see her children. She began to feel that her days were numbered so we fixed up two wagons and one carriage for the trip. My mother, Lydia, Andrew, Levi, and I started back to Utah. James stayed and took care of the real estate and what was left behind. With a few other teams and wagons, we started on the long and tiresome road once more. We made the trip of about 1000 miles of bad road in about 30 days. We stopped at Fort Herriman and made a week's visit with Brother Elijah. Then we went to Cache Valley to visit Sidney who had married Lucretia Winn, and Susan who had married John Goaslind. We established a home on twenty acres of land east of Richmond. It was a sad winter as our only cow died, there was no local work, and Mother's and Lydia's health was poor. We older boys went away from home to work and freight, and Levi was left to care for Mother and Lydia. They made comfortable the three room log house, planted fruit trees, and Levi and Lydia cared for Mother until she died 7 Dec. 1862 in Richmond. Lydia and Levi continued to live in the home in Richmond until Lydia died 15 Oct. 1870. Levi meanwhile had filed on 160 acres but gave it up when Lydia died.

(Andrew Lee Allen married second Martha Christina Johansen 30 May 1863. She was a widow with children. They separated and he married third Ann Hughes 16 Nov. 1867. She was a Welsh convert to the Church of Jesus Christ and was a good loyal wife.)

In the spring of 1863 there was a call for one hundred wagons to go down to the Missouri River to bring some immigrants to Utah who had come from Europe and other parts of the country. They were stationed in Florence on the Missouri River where we were supposed to meet them. Four yoke of oxen were required for each wagon and I was called to go as night guard. I was required to be on duty half of every night and help to bring in the cattle every morning. We started from Richmond, Cache Valley on 14 April. The roads were pretty bad over the mountains as the snow had not melted. There were other companies called from other parts of Utah, five in all, who went down that season to the Missouri River after pilgrims. One hundred wagons in each company and four yoke of oxen on each wagon made a great deal of travel on the road that summer. We were about three months going down to the Missouri River and were obliged to stay there for some time waiting for the steamboat to bring the immigrants up the river. When they came we loaded up and started back. It was a hard and tiresome journey. We were glad to get back to Utah again. We were gone about eight months from home. Andrew had been out north for the summer with freight and had returned home. We concluded to go back to California that winter, sell our real estate and come back to Cache Valley to make our home.

We started with a wagon and two spans of animals. The snow was on the ground and the wagon wheels squeaked in the snow as we traveled along. The days and nights were very cold. When we got into southern Utah we came in company with some other wagons that were going through to California which was good luck for us as two or three wagons were too small a group to be safe.

We got into California all right and sold off our property as best we could though the price of land was very cheap. We took the most of the value of our property in horn-stock as they were a low price there but were a good price in Utah. We gathered up about 100 head of cattle and rigged up our teams and wagons for the trip. James sold out and took his family and our sister, Saphronia, and came with us. (Saphronia had married Abraham Foster, for her first marriage was unsuccessful). We all started for Utah in company with a few other wagons. Driving the herd of stock made it very slow traveling. We traveled on as best we could and when we got out into the Indian country we hired the Indians to herd the stock at night. When we got to Resting Springs, we left the Indians to take the cattle out as usual. When they drove them into camp in the morning they received their pay for herding and started off up the wash. Andrew, having charge of the herd, looked around and saw that four head of work oxen were gone. He sent one of the men after the Indians and he brought them back. As the Indians outnumbered us about three to one, they became very angry and strung up their bows and got their arrows ready to fight us. We were all armed and Andrew went out and talked to them and told them that it would be all right as soon as the Indians had brought in the four head of missing cattle. They finally cooled down and one started off after the cattle on foot with Mr. Cheney, the herder, on horseback with pistol in hand after him. The Indian took a straight line after the cattle about three miles away in a little valley where they had left them. They returned with the animals and the prisoners were given up.

We traveled on, not knowing when they would fall on us and take our scalps for they were very treacherous and would take advantage of us when they could. We finally got to Fort Herriman and made Elijah a visit. Then we went on to Cache Valley and made our home there. We bought some land and went to farming, got us some city lots and built some houses. I was married to Elizabeth Adelaide Hoopes and lived in Richmond City until we had five children, all boys. Then we went three miles north of Richmond and took up 160 acres of land. I went to work and made a good home.

I had been to Salt Lake City and received my endowments and blessings in the house of the Lord. I was ordained an Elder and called to act as a teacher in the Richmond Ward for some time. After we moved out on the farm where there were about fifteen families, we were set off in a district called Coveville and I was called to preside for five years over that branch of the Church. I worked hard in the summer to make and secure my crops and worked in the canyon during the winter exposed to the weather. I began to feel the worse for it as I began to be troubled with rheumatism and thought it would be better for my health if I would go to a warmer climate. I concluded I would go to Arizona as there had been a great many called to go south to strengthen the settlements. They wanted more to go so I sold my home to Andrew and Levi in the fall of 1882, and on the 3rd of October we started south with two wagons, one carriage, and twelve head of horses.

We stopped in St. George and worked two days in the temple and did what we could before we started on and crossed the Colorado River. We arrived at Mesa 13 Nov. 1882. We camped with Brother Hakes a few days. Then we bought a house and lot from Ed Thomas and moved in. We went to work hauling hay for Brother Standage on shares and got enough hay to do us through the winter.

Shortly afterwards I bought a claim on a hundred and sixty acres of land from John M. Lewis which belonged to Henry J. Horne, who had gone to San Pedro. The land had a house on it into which we moved. We went to work on the Mesa canal and I was soon elected one of the directors of the Mesa Canal Company. I served several years in that capacity. I also acted as president of the board for some time. I filled the office of school trustee for several years. I was ordained a High Priest 10 Dec. 1882, by C. L. Robson and was set apart as a High Councilman of the Maricopa Stake of Zion and was chosen as first counselor to Jesse P. Steele in the High Priest Quorum. I was called to labor as an Indian Missionary by A. F. Macdonald, Stake President. I labored in that capacity for a number of years. When Jesse P. Steele left the stake of Zion I was called to preside over the High Priest Quorum and was set apart for that office by Erastus Snow, one of the Twelve Apostles on 19 Dec. 1885. I traveled with President Macdonald up and down Salt River and Gila River preaching and talking to the Lamanites and assisted in baptizing and confirming many into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. I also blessed many children. I also went with C. L. Robson and H. C. Rogers three trips south from one hundred to two hundred miles and caused many to rejoice in the principles of the Gospel.

On the 19 Nov. 1889 I met with a great loss. I was called to part with my dear beloved wife, Elizabeth Adelaide Hoopes Allen. She was a good wife and a kind and fond mother. This loss caused me much grief and sorrow and I felt it greatly. She died as she had lived -- a good Latter-day Saint, full of faith and hope of a glorious resurrection.

In the summer of 1890 I went to Logan, Cache County, Utah and worked in the Temple for some time for the dead. There I became acquainted with Annie Eliza Jones and was married to her in the Logan Temple 30 Oct. 1890. We then returned home to Mesa City, Maricopa County, Arizona. My wife had a sister living over on the Gila River in the St. Joseph Stake of Zion and we went over there and made her a visit. We were gone about three weeks. I labored among the Lamanites a great deal and had much pleasure in my labors.

I desire with the help of the Lord that I will be able to hold out faithful to the end.

Signed, Charles H. Allen; 28 Feb. 1896.

Charles Hopkins Allen was a good man, bearing a strong testimony of the truthfulness of the Gospel as long as he lived. He was also quite humorous in a droll fashion.

His young daughter, Deborah, was musical and was capable of playing all the church hymns and folk songs when she was very young. He would sit in his rocking chair listening or humming while she played. As she grew older she studied more advanced classical music with which to surprise her father. He did not care for classical music though Deborah didn't know it. He listened patiently until she finished her piece. Then, without comment, he said, "Now play something you know."

One of the favorite stories about him which has been handed down through his family is the story of the sick cow. Charles was rocking on his front porch one day singing, "Come, Come Ye Saints" when two of his sons approached him about their sick cow, asking him to come help them do something for her. Without ceasing his rocking he calmly remarked, "Tain't worth the trouble, let her die.", and went on with his song. The boys and their mother tended to the cow and she recovered.

He was a praying man, but was not showy about his feelings toward his God. Many times his family members observed him praying in the orchard and the creek bottom. He was humble in his different callings in the church and was set apart to be a Stake Patriarch 8 Sept. 1912. The following was submitted for publication by his daughter Clarinda:

Father told me this about a year before he died while I was visiting him. I don't know where else it is recorded.

"About the last of Feb. 1880 I came home from the canyon and found a skunk under the granary. I ran and got the gun and in my hurry I did not get the cartridge in right, and when I fired it, shot backwards and filled my face with powder--two grains in one eye and three in the other--but it did not affect the sight. I was knocked down flat on my back and was helped in the house by my wife where I stayed three days suffering greatly with pain in my head. The third night my wife was worn out so a neighbor woman, a midwife, sat with me. That night my spirit left my body and went to a place where I saw a room all white with children in it all dressed in white, and lace on the chairs which I thought was hand made. I could see through the walls and doors as if it were glass, but when I tried to open the door it was locked. I then saw some people gathering as for a meeting in another larger room, I took a good view and went around to enter when my spirit returned to my body and I exclaimed, "I am healed! It is a miracle!" The pain had all left my head. The woman said, "Keep still and try to get a little rest." She thought I was out of my head but I was not. In a few days I was around at my work again. I thought it was not my time to die and if I was good enough I could sometime go to that place."

Clarinda Knapp Allen Wilcox.

ELIZABETH ADELAIDE HOOPES ALLEN

Elizabeth Adelaide Hoopes Allen was one of the first babies born in a covered wagon during the time her L. D. S. parents were being driven from their home in Missouri. Her early life was filled with trials and tribulations as experienced by thousands of faithful saints. Her father was a shoemaker and her mother a very refined lady of great faith and energy. While living near St. Joseph, Missouri her father worked at burning charcoal and was very prosperous. Her mother's health was poor. Her father was counseled to join the saints at Florence, Nebraska and prepare to immigrate to Utah but he did not heed the counsel. Soon after a non-Mormon family was burned in their home and the Mormons were accused of committing the deed. After much controversy, her father and a Brother Lincoln were taken to prison by the sheriff for protection from the mob. They remained there ten months and were proved innocent and were released. The family was reduced to a state of poverty as all his accumulated wealth was spent for lawyer's fees. Her mother made willow baskets for the children to sell which made them a living.

While crossing the plains, Elizabeth was given the responsibility to care for the children, especially the baby. The other children drove the loose cattle. One of the cows had a calf which took all of the milk. The Hoopes family was given permission to tie the calf up at night so they could have the milk in the morning for the children. No one offered to catch the calf, so Elizabeth Adelaide undertook the task. She got the rope around the neck and the calf began to run. It pulled her through the slough brush, and rough places before she lost her grip. Help was necessary before she got the calf tied.

After their arrival in Salt Lake City in 1857, they moved to Bountiful and then on to Cache Valley where she helped her father herd the sheep and cattle and helped with the general outside work.

When 17 years of age she met Charles Hopkins Allen. He was courting her girlfriend, Belinda Bair. Belinda was Elizabeth's luncheon guest one day and arrived wearing a very fancy bonnet. After much teasing she admitted she had made arrangements for Charles to see her home. Elizabeth playfully hid the prize bonnet when she saw Charles coming. In the turmoil and nonsense during the search for the bonnet it fell from its hiding place from behind the door. Elizabeth snatched it up and ran, but Charles and his whip were too fast for her. He later told her that he fell in love with her the day he wrapped his whip around her. Although he was 17 years her senior she seemed to share his feelings and consented to be his wife. Their first five children, all boys, were born while they lived in Richmond, Utah. Five other children, four girls and a boy, were born in Cove, Utah.

During this period the Indians were still uncontrolled. On one occasion when her husband was away getting wood, an Indian buck came and demanded food. She was not of a nervous nature and she prepared him something to eat. While doing so she noticed his gaze was riveted on a rifle on the wall. As he started for the gun she gave him an unexpected forceful shove which landed him outside the kitchen door attached by a blanket to a nail. In spite of his humiliation he admired her bravery and he left without any more trouble.

Elizabeth Adelaide was very friendly and her doors were always open to welcome friends and relatives. She promoted the spirit of home entertainment for keeping children under the family roof and possessed the spirit of "Home Evening" long before the prophet of the Lord recommended it throughout the Church. She was a very capable woman being able to do anything from knitting stockings to butchering pigs. She was handy with the spinning wheel and the loom and was very active in church activities.

When the call came to go to Arizona, she readily agreed as her husband was suffering from rheumatism. Brother Elijah learned of its climatic values while a member of the Mormon battalion going through that region. On the 13 Nov. 1882 they entered what is now Mesa, Arizona. She endured many hardships pioneering in that area, particularly a smallpox epidemic and childbirth. When the last of her fourteen children was born 13 Nov. 1889, Elizabeth Adelaide died. She gave her life to give life to another. Her unlimited faith, courage, and charity influenced the many people she met. Her entire life was devoted to the service of others but she never neglected her devoted husband and loving children. Her last request was that her tithing be paid on some butter she sold so she might be squared with her tithing.

ANNIE ELIZA JONES

She was born the 10th Nov. 1869 in New Hope, Hawkins Co., Tennessee. Her parents were James Allen Jones and Minerva Ann Lawson. Her father served in the Union Army during the Civil War and, as the family was located in Tennessee, they suffered the plunderings and atrocities of both armies. At the end of the War the family possessed only one quilt, everything else having been stolen. They were in constant fear of their lives during this period. Her father witnessed the ruins of the Nauvoo Temple when he was serving in the Army.

Revival meetings were being held in those days but Annie Eliza was not impressed with the teachings. Before her mother died there were some elders of the Church of Jesus Christ traveling through Tennessee. The message they carried appealed to Annie Eliza and she was baptized into the Church.

Her early life was typical of the area in which she lived. They farmed and traded, made their own clothing, and enjoyed home entertainment. Annie's father was illiterate so he encouraged his children to go to school. Annie won many of the spelling matches she took part in. Her uncle was well educated and he was considered the best doctor in Tennessee at the time.

After the death of her mother, Annie Eliza came to Utah to live. She worked in American Fork, Utah; Pocatello, Idaho; and Logan before her marriage to Charles Hopkins Allen 30 Oct. 1890. Her son Ira, by a previous union, was adopted and sealed to her and Charles at the time of the marriage. They came to Mesa, Arizona to live.

She was extremely impressed by the faith and prayers of the Mesa people. After her arrival the area was suffering from a severe drought. President Hakes of the Maricopa Stake was in Phoenix and was approached by a Phoenix lawyer who said to him, "Hakes, why don't you Mormons start praying for rain?" Hakes said, "All right we will," That night it started to rain. It rained until the the river flooded, water ran down the main street and into the stores, and the lawyer hurriedly got word to President Hakes saying, "For heaven's sake, you Mormons stop praying!"

She never saw an Indian until she came to Arizona. Until she became used to it she was frightened everytime she looked up and saw one peeking in the window (which was a curious habit with the Indians). The Indians would pass in droves on horses going on a rabbit hunt. They were yelling and excited as they drove their rabbits before them through the brush. The group would circle the rabbits and shoot them with bows and arrows.

Dairying and farming provided an income while her husband did missionary work with the Indians. They raised some fruit and a few vegetables. Raising their family of nine children was very expensive and as her husband was quite elderly she helped out by doing practical nursing. She did lots of charity nursing as well as nursing under Dr. J. B. Nelson, Dr. B. B. Moeur, and Dr. Drane. Obstetrics was her specialty and she assisted in many infant deliveries. One of her favorite stories during her nursing career was of Dr. Moeur trying to persuade a lady who really wasn't sick to get out of bed. She refused so he quickly struck a match and set the bedcovers afire. When Annie later asked him how the lady was doing, he said, "She was fighting fire the last time I saw her!" Most of her nursing was done under Dr. Nelson's direction. He was a convert from Denmark and had been blessed and set apart to become a doctor when in Utah. He used both medical science and the holy priesthood in doctoring the sick. He performed many wonderful miracles of doctoring during the time she nursed for him.

When she became too old to nurse, she visited often with her married children and made rag rugs for them. She had a great sense of humor and enjoyed a hearty joke.

ELIJAH ALLEN

ELIJAH ALLEN, the oldest son of Andrew Lee and Clarinda Knapp Allen, was born in the town of Burton, Cattaraugus Co., N. Y., 7 Feb. 1826. His father was a prosperous farmer who owned a large grove of sugar maple trees and a nice home. After the family joined the Church, they sold this home and moved to Kirtland, Ohio. From Kirtland the family moved from place to place and endured many hardships.

While Elijah was still in his teens he went out to try and find work. He went west and crossed the Mississippi River and traveled through the country for sometime but failed to find any work so he returned to Nauvoo, Illinois and called on President Brigham Young and asked for counsel. President Young told him to stop with him and go to work, which he did. He remained with President Young until the Church moved West and drove a team through to Winter Quarters on the Missouri River. While they were at Winter Quarters the government made a call for 500 men and President Young asked Elijah if he would go. He accepted. President Young then gave him a blessing and told him he would make the journey in safety and return again to his parents in good health.

He marched as a private in Company "B" to California. While on his way to California he became seriously ill and the party was compelled to wait several days for him to recover. One evening as the company sat around the campfire deciding what to do next, Elijah heard the captain of the Company "B" make the remark that they were due at a certain place at a certain time and that Mr. Allen's sickness was the only thing that was holding them back, so they decided to put him in the back of a wagon and travel with him anyway. Their plans were to start before daylight the next morning. During the night, as he did not feel well enough to make the trip and was afraid that the party would be compelled to stop again on his account, he crawled out of the wagon and off into the sagebrush to die. As he lay there suffering he heard the wagons pulling out, leaving him behind. The thought of Brigham Young's blessing came to his mind and he thought to himself, this is one time Brigham Young's prophecies would not be fulfilled. When all wagons were out of sight he crawled back to the campfire, laid down and fell asleep. There he had a dream that the things Brigham Young had told him would come to pass.

As the hours went by the doctor of the Company decided that he had better look back into the wagon and see how the sick man was and he discovered that he wasn't there. This provoked the captain and he said, "That is just like that independent boy" and he ordered some men to turn back and find him. They found him lying asleep by the campfire. After scolding him severely, he was placed back into the wagon and they started again on the journey. It seemed to the sick man that the jolts of the wagon were almost more than he could bear. By nightfall, however, he was feeling better, and gradually he gained strength as the days went by. After reaching California he was discharged, along with the other members of his camp, on 16 July 1847. (21 years of age.)

Again he was taken ill. After his recovery this time he obtained employment at the San Gabriel Mission where he worked until 1848. In February of that year, together with about a dozen other men, he started for Great Salt Lake Valley with about 200 head of cattle that had been purchased for the Church. After a difficult journey he arrived in Salt Lake Valley in the latter part of May 1848. He traded a sack of gold dust, which he had brought from California, for twenty acres of land in the heart of Salt Lake Valley. Later he traded that property for a larger piece of ground where Fort Douglass is now located. There he commenced farming. He paid a man $5.00 for a bushel of seed corn and $5.00 for half a bushel of buckwheat. He paid 25¢ a pound for flour to make his bread. Crickets totally destroyed his crop.

Later in the year of 1849 he sold his property for $5.00 and a suit of ill fitting jeans and started for the States with Mr. Miles Goodyear. He drove a pair of horses. At Sweet Water they met President Young and his company enroute to the Valley. After Brigham Young had greeted him he looked him over thoroughly, took him to the back of the wagon belonging to himself, and brought out a suit of store clothes and fitted him out. Mr. Allen then repeated his experiences to Brigham Young and told him about the blessing and how it had all come to pass and all the things had been fulfilled. Brigham Young then gave him another blessing that he would find his people and come back to Utah.

He journeyed East and crossed the Missouri River on 23 Oct. 1849. His father's family had moved to Camp Creek near Council Bluff and 18 miles south of Kaneshville where they had a small branch of the Church. They lived here four years and improved two farms. It was here that Elijah met his father and mother, brothers and sisters from whom he had been separated about two years and three months.

Elijah traded for a mill site about two miles below Coonsville where he and his brothers put up a saw mill and ran it one season and then when they were ready to start to Utah they sold the mill for $1,000 and took it in cattle and wagons and other things to fit them for the trip.

Elijah had married Eliza Ann Bickmore before leaving the States, probably at Coonsville 2 May 1852. He and his wife arrived in Salt Lake City 13 Aug. 1852, camped on the public square a week and then went on to Provo. They lived at Provo a few years then moved to Fort Herriman where he farmed for a living.

His constant companion while in the Mormon Battallion was a brother of the woman he married and it was he who introduced Elijah to her. While living in Provo, Utah he was an active member of the Twenty-first Quorum of Seventies. Five of his children were born at Fort Herriman, Salt Lake County, Utah, and two were born at Provo. He died at Fort Herriman 21 Apr. 1866 leaving a widow with seven small children.

ELIZA ANN BICKMORE

Eliza Ann Bickmore was born 29 Jan. 1830 in Madison, Illinois. She was the daughter of William and Christine Bagley Bickmore and was one of a large family though all the other names of the family are not known. Two brothers, Gilbert and Orlando, and two sisters, Christine and Fidelia, are listed on the records. Fidelia married a man named Kidd and lived at Fort Herriman.

Eliza Ann had her endowments 7 Feb. 1846. After the return of the Mormon Battalion she met and married Elijah Allen in 1852 and accompanied him and his father's family to Utah. After a short stay in Provo they settled in Fort Herriman. They had seven children, one daughter and six sons. Her husband died 21 Apr. 1866 as a result of the hard trip and severe treatment he received with the Mormon Battalion. He never knew what good health was after that journey. Her husband's brothers, Charles, Andrew and Levi, had her move to Richmond with her family so they could help to look after her. They must have been in very strained circumstances as the children had to go without shoes in the wintertime. Andrew said he went to school barefoot when quite a good sized boy.

Eliza Ann was a hard working woman. The family kept sheep and she spun and wove the cloth for all their clothing. She knit the socks, wove carpets, churned and made butter, made good salt-rising bread in the summer and yeast bread in the winter. She was quick about her work and could wash, churn, bake, and iron in one day besides getting the meals. She was a good "plain food" cook and her meals were always appetizing. She taught her family to work. The people of Richmond would put all their cows together in one herd and hire her boys to herd them. They hired Eliza Ann's sons, two at a time, until they got old enough to do a man's work. Her son, Elijah, worked in the canyon and Will worked down in the lead mines in Bingham, Utah. Will became leaded and it affected his mind. He died at an early age.

The family first lived in a little log house in the northeast part of Richmond. As the boys grew older, Elijah homesteaded land out in Coveville and the family moved out there in a one room log house. They stayed there and built a nice two room frame house with lumber they cut in the canyon. It was painted white. Elijah got pneumonia working in the canyon and died. Eliza Ann lived in this home until her children were all married and then she lived with one or another of the children, wherever she was needed until she died in March 1901. She was religious in a quiet way and attended church wherever she could. She was a very good woman and was notably neat and clean.

(A tribute paid to Aunt Eliza Ann Bickmore Allen from Lydia S. Purnell).

Their first home was in a village 20 miles southwest of Salt Lake City called Fort Herriman, where her children were born and her husband died. Some time after his death, his brothers moved her to Richmond, Cache Valley, Utah, that they might help her with their counsel and management.

She had a yoke of cattle, a wagon, household furniture, a few cows, sheep and chickens and pigs, which they had accumulated while her husband was alive. She bought a city lot with one log room, some sheds and corrals to shelter the animals, thus, she started anew to make a home and raise her family, which consisted of six boys and one girl ranging in age from 13 to 2 years. My purpose in writing this tribute is to show how she did it. She kept her family together, taught them to work, and to be honest and obedient. She was kind to them and worked hard to keep them clothed and fed. She made cloth for clothing, stockings, blankets and quilts with the wool from her sheep. After a few years they built a good log room with shingled roof and an attic where the boys slept.

When I was about 12 years old, I made many visits with them as her daughter, Eliza Ann, was near my age. Aunt always made me welcome. The boys were agreeable. It was a real home where peace and freedom were enjoyed. The children were permitted to play games, chatter, tell riddles, pop popcorn, and make molasses candy. Aunt seemed to enjoy the fun with the children who went to school in the winter. The children always had their friends to chum around with. There was no disposition to be unruly. They just went along good naturedly about their duties. I do not say they were perfect, I suppose they disagreed, spoke loudly sometimes, but on the whole they got along fairly peaceably. I never heard of any of them leaving home or committing any drastic offense. Young Elijah homesteaded a quarter section of land in Cove, Utah which is about three miles north of Richmond. The boys built a nice two room frame house, painted it white. This was their home until they were all married. Then the land was divided with the boys, and their mother went to live with them in her old age. I tell this as a background, to bring out her character.

She was industrious, a good housekeeper, honest, paid her debts, lived her religion, was kind and obliging to her neighbors, upheld her husband to her children so much that they had great admiration and reverence for him although the majority never knew him very well because they were too young to remember much about him.

Any woman who can raise a family under the circumstances in which she was placed from the beginning to the end, is truly outstanding. One may be sure that she had many difficulties to overcome, many that were trying to the soul, that nothing short of a good faith in God could make her master of the situation. They all made good citizens and good Latter-day Saints, all were married in the temple, and raised honorable families who bear the characteristics bequeathed them by their worthy parents. One outstanding feature of her sons is that they were industrious, thrifty, and thereby able to build good homes and provide well for their families. I say to their posterity how valuable is their heritage, worthy of sincere appreciation.

SAPHRONIA ALLEN

Saphronia Allen was born 6 Nov. 1828 in Burton, Cattaraugus Co., New York. She was the daughter of Andrew Lee and Clarinda Knapp Allen. (The life story of Saphronia was never written down during her life-time and the following information has been gleaned from those who knew her personally in their childhood. The majority of her important events are included in "Our Family" which was compiled by her brother, Charles.)

She was the smallest of the Allen family and had a lovely singing voice. Her marriage to Jacob Rose ended in separation and she later married Abraham Foster while in San Bernardino, California.

Jacob Rose was not a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints but crossed the plains with the Saints and settled in Carson City, Nevada with his wife and daughter. Though he was a good man, the difference in their religious beliefs caused a broken home. But Saphronia found happiness within the Church by her marriage to Abraham Foster. Most of their married life was spent "up the canyon" near Coveville, Utah. They were not wealthy but found time to enjoy life. Abraham had a fine sense of humor which made him popular wherever he went in his threshing work.

Saphronia was a good, fine woman. She endured many hardships and reared her family with kindness and tolerance.

ANDREW LEE ALLEN, JR.

Andrew Lee Allen was born 16 Aug. 1832 Burton, Cattaraugus Co., New York. He was the son of Andrew Lee and Clarinda Knapp Allen. After his parents joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, he went with them on their journey Westward. While living at the junction of the Missouri and Platte Rivers he worked in his brother, Elijan's, sawmill. The money earned operating this mill and the sale money of it helped provide the family with the means to outfit them for their trip across the plains. He and his brothers were united workers which brought success to their many financial projects. Andrew, James, and Charles were among the group who continued to San Bernardino, California to pioneer. After being there two years they had the opportunity to haul some freight to Salt Lake City. They were joined by their mother, sister and younger brothers for the return trip to California. They lived a good life in California until their Mother desired to see her children in Utah before she died.

After returning to Richmond, Utah, Andrew Lee and his brothers owned and operated a saw mill. He served in the Blackhawk War. With Seul Lamb of Hyde Park, Utah he stood guard against the Indians. They took turns shoveling snow so each could get a cat-nap on the well-frozen ground.

He married Minerva Whittle, daughter of Thomas Levi and Mary Jane Butterfield Whittle, 4 Mar. 1872 in Salt Lake City, Utah. He filed on 160 acres of land in Coveville, Utah where they made their new home 1873. His brother Levi lived with them nearly 16 years until he married in 1888. Levi was loved and respected by all the family. It was here that most of Andrew and Minerva's children were born.

Andrew and Levi acquired a large tract of land by homesteading and buying. They farmed the land as one large farm for many years and never had trouble. There was a sincere love and respect between them which was very rare. On the farm they raised hay, grain, beef and dairy cattle. When they dissolved partnership, one teenage boy from each family was sent to divide the cattle and every one concerned was satisfied with their division. They gave 40 acres of land to the Coveville Ward for the Missionary Farm and it is now used as the Ward Welfare Farm. After he was ordained a High Priest 27 Nov. 1882 by M. W. Merrill, he was set apart as counselor to Bishop John C. Larsen who was the first Bishop of Coveville Ward. He served faithfully and efficiently for more than 25 years.

He married Ann Spackman 8 May 1884. She was the daughter of Edward and Rosanna Black Spackman. Andrew and Ann were the parents of four daughters.

He took his second wife to Canada with the original Pioneer Company that left northern Utah the latter part of March 1887. His first wife, Minerva, remained with the older family on the home farm in Cove. He drove his team and plow that plowed the first furrow for the city of Cardston with President Card holding the plow. He and his nephew, Warner Allen, proceeded to break one half acre on Lees Creek bottom which they planted with vegetables. He returned to Utah in October 1887 and his homecoming was sad as his second son, Sidney had died. He arrived just before the funeral.

He took every opportunity to better the community and state by helping with the building of schools, churches, temples, factories, and piping of spring water for home and community use. He also aided in supplying electric lights and he provided all his family and others to get an education.

He had a strong faith that things that seemed impossible to do could be done. He proved that faith by saving a pair of badly frozen hands after the doctors said they must be cut off to save the life of the individual. Through faith not a finger was lost. He had vision to acquire enough land to provide work for all his family. He was honest and upright in all things and was loved and respected by all who knew him.

Andrew Lee Allen, Jr., died at the family home at Cove, Utah 8 June 1918 and was buried in the Richmond Cemetery. All the members of the Benson Stake Presidency spoke at the funeral services. President Alma Merrill said, "He had learned early in life to be obedient to the promptings of the spirit and lived a life worthy of imitation." President B. O. Hendricks said, "He was a man of wisdom and good counsel." "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God, and I can relate many instances where he has made peace among his friends and relatives," said President Waddoups.

MINERVA WHITTLE

I was born May 15, 1854 in Herriman, Salt Lake County, Utah. My parents were Thomas L. Whittle and Mary Jane Butterfield. We moved to Grantsville, lived there a while and then father heard of Cache Valley and sold out and came to Richmond. Father had two families and brought all of us to Richmond at the same time. We came with ox teams. My mother drove her own team, father drove the loose cattle, and my half brothers drove the ox teams for the other family. We got along all right until we came to the dugway in Wellsville Canyon. The women folks got out to walk down the dugway so mother did the same, taking myself and brother. I was seven years old and my brother two years old. When we got out the oxen ran away and some one called, "Stop that team, they will break the stove to pieces." Mother was glad it was the stove and not us in there. No damage was done to the stove which wasn't ours.

We came to Richmond in the spring of 1860. I remember how my mother did her cooking. She gathered rocks and put them together and built a fire, put her kettle on and baked her bread or cooked whatever she had to cook. We lived in our wagon with a quilt up for a shade until our house was built. Many others had to live the same way, there were very few houses. We had to live close together on account of the Indians, who were very troublesome. They would run off our cattle and horses. The men folks had to take turns standing guard day and night. When the word would come "the Indians are coming" it was an exciting time. I remember when the Indians made a raid on Franklin. Everybody was up and going. Father got on a fractious horse and in the excitement with all riding so fast the horse got excited and ran away with him. He was hurt quite badly.

While my father was building a house for one of my brothers, a log fell on him and hurt him so badly that he died in a few days never gaining consciousness. My mother was left alone with four children. I was the oldest and helped make a living by spinning and weaving for the other folks as well as doing all our own cloth making.

I got quite expert in making clothes in those days. I made my wedding dress by spinning the wool, weaving it into cloth, cutting my own pattern, doing my own fitting, and sewing my own seams.

I married Andrew Lee Allen, Jr., March 4 1872, while in Salt Lake City. We went to the land office and filed a homestead where I now live. My husband immediately went to work and raised a crop of grain and some hay the first year. The next spring in 1875 we moved and lived in a log house. In the winter Andrew would go out to the farm to feed his cattle and when it wasn't too cold I would go out with him for a sleigh ride.

I have lived here ever since and raised my family. Four of my boys have been on missions. Two of my sons have worked on the Stake Board. I have done my mite in the Church. I was treasurer of the Relief Society for about twenty-five years. I enjoyed my work in the Primary as counselor.

Aunt Minerva

ANN SPACKMAN

Ann Spackman, daughter of Edward and Rosanna Black Spackman, was born 8 Nov. 1868 at West Woody, Berkshire, England. She attended a church school in England where she received an award for being an honor student. She had a beautiful voice and sang in the church choir.

Her parents were converted to the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in England. They brought their family to Utah in 1880 settling in Cove. Ann attended the Cove Public School. She was industrious and was always willing to help her neighbors in time of need. She became self-supporting at an early age.

She married Andrew Lee Allen, Jr., 8 May 1884 in Logan, Utah. They were sealed in Logan Temple and were parents of four daughters. She was a good help-mate and mother. She died 2 June 1900 at Ogden, Utah but was returned to Richmond for burial.

JAMES ALLEN, SR.

James Allen was the son of Andrew Lee and Clarinda Knapp Allen. He was born 12 Oct. 1833 in Brookton, New York. He was a blacksmith and wagon builder by trade. He married Mary Elizabeth Mathews 24 Dec. 1860. He owned a large farm a mile north of Richmond, and took a pride in his horses, especially his draft horses and a race horse he called "Bess". He built the first frame house in Richmond, and was the first man to have glass window panes. Heretofore oiled paper and tallow candles comprised the lighting system. He also stood night guard against the Indians. He always maintained it was cheaper to feed them than fight them.

Before the railroad was constructed, he freighted from Corrine, Utah to Helena, Montana. He was an entertaining story teller, too. If the children whined about doing the nightly chores he would say, "Hurry up and get the night's wood in and I'll tell you a story."

Of course, our favorite stories were the most gruesome, and went something like this: "I had driven since early morning, and was looking for a camping site for the night. Presently I located a tree and decided to camp for the night. I had unhitched the horses and turned them out to graze, lighted a fire and started to prepare my evening meal. I glanced up into the tree and there I saw a man hanging from one of the larger limbs, a placard was pinned to his trouser leg saying: 'Every time a cattle rustler visits us, we celebrate by holding a neck-tie party. Beware!!!' I hitched my team to the wagon and moved on."

Another of his freighting experiences was the time an Indian rode up to the side of the wagon and said, "Gimme that gun!!" He drew a bead on the Indian and said "Gimme that blanket." The Indian threw the blanket at him and took his leave as quickly as possible. He and Isaac B. Nash of Franklin, Idaho, made most of the nails used in building the first Franklin meeting house, pounding them out one by one on their anvils. How happy they were to procure an old wagon tire which was more easily converted into nails than the bulkier pieces of iron.

He was very considerate and never passed judgment before hearing both sides of an argument. He was active in the Church. He held the office of high priest and ward teacher as long as he lived.

No missionary ever left Richmond without receiving $5.00 from him. He died 17 Jan. 1890 in Richmond, Utah.

MARY ELIZABETH MATHEWS

Mary Elizabeth Mathews Allen was born 6 July 1842 in Marysville, Mississippi. She was the daughter of Benjamin F. Mathews, b. 16 April, 1819 in Alabama and Temperence Weeks Mathews born in Tennessee in 1818. Her parents joined the church in 1839. Her father was a typical Southerner. He owned cotton plantations and a string of fine horses. When he decided to go West, he sold his plantations, and bought two heavy wagons which he loaded with provisions and implements. A third lighter wagon was made comfortable to ride and sleep in. He kept some horses and was quite well equipped for the long journey.

They reached Fort Pueblo in the spring of 1846. The company made up in Fort Pueblo, arrived in Salt Lake City 29 July 1847. Some of the company went to California, but the Mathews family remained in Salt Lake Valley.

The first real thing Mary could remember doing was helping to fight crickets with a home-made broom.

In 1850 the family went to California where within three years they had amassed a fortune around Sutters Mill. Three years later they moved to San Bernardino, where Mary E. was married to James Allen 24 Dec. 1860. In June 1864 Mary, her husband and two daughters moved back to Utah settling in Richmond. Here they spent the remainder of their lives. Mary Elizabeth died 12 Nov. 1912.

SIDNEY DAVID ALLEN and MARGARET ANN COOPER

SIDNEY DAVID ALLEN came across the plains when he was a small boy. Later he went back to help another company on their way. He went to California during the gold rush and worked as a blacksmith. He learned the blacksmith trade from his father.

He married MARGARET ANN COOPER. Her father planted the first fruit trees in Ogden. They lived upon the Weber River where they were sent as missionaries to the Indians. One day Margaret Ann was going somewhere on horseback when she was chased by the Indians. When they finally caught her they pulled her off her horse and the leader took a look at her and said, "Hell, Cooper's Papoose". They turned her loose. He was very well thought of by the Indians.

Sidney David and Margaret Ann went to Oxford, Idaho, where he ran his blacksmith shop for the freighters between Utah and Montana. He followed the railroad into Montana, with his shop.

From Montana he went to Cove, Utah, then to Goose Creek for one year. He was sent by Brigham Young to Star Valley, Wyoming, where he remained until his death at the age of seventy. He farmed, raised cattle, and ran his blacksmith shop until one year before his death. He was a good provider and if it had not been for him and his family, many of the people in Star Valley would have suffered from hunger the first winter. They rationed their food out until it was gone. In the Spring the saints from Montpelier came to their aid. They ate pots of boiled venison that winter. People paid him for his work in produce or anything they had, then in the winter it would be given back to them to feed their families.

He was Counselor to the Bishop there for many years. Margaret Ann was a nurse and there was never a call turned down. She went as far as ten miles on snow shoes to deliver a baby or tend the sick. In the fall she would take a wagon and drive to Cache Valley for fruit. On one trip when she was going home with her wagon loaded she met some freighters with empty wagons on a grade. She pulled to the inside of the road which by rights should have been theirs. They told her to pull over and she refused. They said "All right then, we will stay here until you do." She climbed down and unhitched her team and said, "Right here is where we camp. I can stay as long as you can." The freighters conceded their defeat and they both went on their way.

She pieced nine quilt tops by hand the winter she was eighty-four years old.

JOHN CORNOG GOASLIND

John Cornog Goaslind, son of John Goaslind and Hannah Cornog, was born in Augusta, Brackin Co., Kentucky. His father died when he was but eight years of age, leaving his mother with five living children, one of which died in infancy.

After a period of time his mother married a Mr. Miller. Because of financial circumstances they decided to move to the state of Texas and engage in the farming business. John was now past nine years of age and took part in cultivating the farm, raising corn and cotton and consequently had but little opportunity of schooling, for he attended school but five days all told. He was a willing worker, had a genial pleasant disposition and was full of the Irish wit. By his own self effort and determination, he acquired the common rudiments of an education and was a genius in figures and was able to solve difficult problems in his mind.

He learned the blacksmith trade, the shoeing of horses. He was fond of sports and was quite an athlete. He loved fine horses and was an expert in handling them. Through self effort he learned carpentry, how to handle machinery, and finally by hard study acquired title of mill-wright.

He first married Matildia White, a widow with four children. By this union seven children were born to them, three of which died in infancy. They were divorced and he was given the children, all boys. As Joseph was a nursing baby, he remained with his mother.

He joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and with his three sons came to Utah. He was baptized enroute. He was taught the Word of Wisdom and believed it. Through grim determination he discontinued the use of tobacco by putting off the time to take some. By this method he lost the love of tobacco and never used it again. Many of the others on the journey to Utah were not strong enough to break the habit.

The company arrived in the Salt Lake Valley in the fall of 1854. John settled at Fort Herriman. He entered into a sawmill partnership with Washington Jolley but because of dishonesty of his partner he lost his entire holdings. While living at Fort Herriman, he became acquainted with Elijah Allen and through him was led to go to Provo, Utah where he met and became acquainted with Susan Allen, Elijah's sister. After a short courtship they were married 4 July 1858, and she accepted the care of his three boys. In the year 1859 the family moved to Ogden, where he assisted in building a grist mill for President John Taylor in West Weber.

In 1860 they moved to Cache Valley settling in the town of Richmond where he built a sawmill which burned down. From Richmond they moved to Franklin in 1862. Here he built a three room house and made his family as comfortable as possible. He built a sawmill for Samuel R. Parkinson and Thomas S. Smart. In 1865 he moved part of his family to Logan as he was called to build a grist mill for Ezra T. Benson and John Thatcher. The three oldest boys remained in Franklin to care for the house.

In 1866 the family returned to Franklin where he helped build a grist mill, which was successful and brought good returns for several years. He also bought and operated the first horse power thrashing machine at Franklin and operated it in many of settlements in Cache Valley. He built a second saw mill at Franklin. He helped to erect the Franklin Ward meeting house and was a school trustee and held the office of a High Priest.

In the spring of 1876 he moved his family out to the south field, built a two roomed house, did some farming, organized a school district, gave the settlement the name Coveville, and became one of the trustees.

He was intensely interested in education and would make any sacrifice to give his children such schooling as was to be had.

In later life he took a great interest in temple work and in 1877 he made a trip to Panguitch, Utah where his mother lived in an effort to obtain the genealogy of his ancestors and to do work in the St. George Temple, but on reaching Panguitch found his mother ill, and did not accomplish the temple work.

He did gather some genealogy which is highly valued by his family.

On returning to his home he was taken ill with throat and lung trouble. He passed away 6 June 1878 and buried at Richmond Cemetery, Richmond, Utah.

He was of a cheerful disposition, easy of approach, strictly moral in his habits, and taught his children to be virtuous in their lives. Loyal to the Church he stood for righteous principles and was noted for his integrity to the truth. He was the father of 16 children, nine boys and seven girls. He was honest, straight forward, full of faith in the Gospel, true to his covenants, just in his dealings with his family and fellow men, generous, public spirited, broadminded, slow to anger, but when he felt his rights infringed upon would defend them with courage. He was prayerful and strong in the defense of truth.

SUSAN ALLEN GOASLIND

Susan Allen Goaslind, daughter of Andrew Lee and Clarinda Knapp Allen, was born at Kirtland, Geauga Co., Ohio 31 Dec. 1837. She endured the hardships of the Mormons and came with her family to Salt Lake Valley in 1852 where she was baptized. On 4 July 1858 she married John Cornog Goaslind. He was a master mechanic, a genius with machinery, and a mill-wright by trade.

They lived in Ogden, Richmond, and Franklin. While in Franklin she became a member of the Relief Society. In 1876 they moved to Coveville, Utah and they lived there until the death of her husband in 1878. As she had nine children to care for, she moved to Fairview, Idaho to homestead land. After she had proved up on her land, she sold it and moved to Logan in 1892 to continue doing Temple work. While in Logan she served as a Relief Society teacher in the Logan 4th Ward.

Her testimony is as follows: "On December 31, 1923, I shall be eighty-six years of age. I have been a member of the Church of Jesus Christ all my life, and I feel very thankful to my Heavenly Father for having been permitted to take part in this glorious work, and am thankful because of the word He has imparted unto me. I have tasted, and I have seen and I know that this is the work of God. I have been supported under trial and troubles of every kind, and in all manner of afflictions, but God has delivered me. And I know that he will raise me up at the last day to dwell with Him in Glory. And I will praise Him forevermore.

Susan Allen Goaslind".

Before her first child was born, she became homesick to see her parents and in spite of her condition she decided to walk to Provo about 100 miles away. She accomplished the journey with grave responsibility and after a short stay she returned by team to her home in Ogden.

Susan was outstanding in her service to the family in getting the family's temple work done. She provided lodging and temple clothing for her friends and relatives for over thirty years. She was stern (especially with herself) and expected people to always do their best. She had a firm testimony of the Gospel as long as she lived.

LEVI KNAPP ALLEN

Levi Knapp Allen, ninth child, sixth son of Andrew Lee and Clarinda

Knapp Allen was born 1 Apr. 1842. The family joined the Mormon Church and moved West with the Saints. They spent the winter in a small log house in Missouri. His father and older brothers worked at harvesting corn and splitting rails. The story Susan loved to tell on Levi must have happened here. He was about four years old and his Father was bringing in a log to put on the fire in the fireplace. Levi, seeing the logs, and his father trying to get it on the fire, was dancing around clapping his hands and spitting his knees. He said, "That's a man! That's a man, Father! Put it on". It shows Levi's character, always loyal and encouraging.

After crossing the plains with his family, living for a time in Provo, he went with his brothers to San Bernardino, California. He stayed there until his mother desired to return to see her other children in Cache Valley. After the death of his mother, he and Lydia continued to make a home in Richmond. Levi filed on 160 acres where he worked until Lydia died 15 Oct. 1870. He relinquished this land and moved out to Cove and took up a homestead of 160 acres near his brothers, Charles and Andrew. In 1871 he built a log house which he called his home for 17 years. During this time he had his meals with his brother Andrew's family and Minerva, Andrew's wife, helped care for such needs as laundry, etc. As time went on he bought more land and went into partnership with Andrew. In 1882 they bought the homestead of Charles who was going to Arizona. Together they owned more than 1500 acres of land from the Idaho line south to the Lewiston Sugar Factory. They raised hay and wheat, and fed many cattle.

Before he married he was a great help financially to his nephews and nieces. He supplied money for missions, education, and provided help for many to buy farm land on time payments. He never drew a note of any kind for these things as he believed in encouraging them to build homes and establish themselves. He loved his relatives and helped provide the necessities of life for his widowed sisters and sisters-in-law.

He encouraged his nieces and nephews to get good educations. He had never had a chance to go to school until they came to Richmond where he attended school for about three months. His mother had always been the teacher for the family, and the reader, speller and arithmetic books had been the boys' constant companions when they herded cows in Provo. When the Richmond teacher asked him what grade he was in, he told her what little schooling he had had. J. W. (Sol) Hendricks, a boy at school, later said, "We laughed at him for coming to school, yet when called to spell he could down the whole school and in reading and arithmetic was far ahead of us who had attended school. I always had a great deal of respect for him, his steadfastness and modesty."

Levi had typhoid fever when he was 25 years old which made him partially deaf in the left ear. It made him self-conscious about holding public positions but he was always glad to help with the Lord's work with manual labor or money. He was outstanding in his efforts in the collection of the Allen record, temple work, and the building of the first church and school houses in Cove. In 1874-5

Levi was called to go to St. George to work on the temple for six months. He left in the fall and came back in the spring. The roads were almost impassable with mud and water. He arrived home too late for the welcome home party given for the men who worked on the temple. He also helped build the Logan and Salt Lake Temples. He drove the 100 miles to Salt Lake City many times in a light-weight wagon to attend the temple dedication and general conferences. Besides other duties, he was in the Sunday School Superintendency for several years.

Levi drove a freight line from Corinne, Utah to Blackfoot, Idaho. On one trip a cold wind came up and a light snow during which he stopped at Hunts Spring, two miles east of Downey, Idaho, where he nearly froze to death. He finally harnessed his team and proceeded to travel to get warm. He narrowly escaped being robbed and killed on another trip. He bore a strong testimony to the fact that by living and keeping God's commandments it brought protection in any place.

Levi married Livinia Meriam Henson 11 Dec. 1888. His father-in-law sold him his farm and home and never asked for a note or paper. He said, "I would rather have Levi Allen's word than most men's notes".. He and his family lived in the home bought from Charles for 19 years until he dissolved partnership with Andrew in 1908. Then he bought a home from his niece one mile south. He saw nine of his ten children married in the house of the Lord. He had traveled in many kinds of vehicles from ox-team to automobiles, on rough roads, dirt roads, and no roads at all (just trails), and paved and oiled roads. He often said, "They said the streets would be made of gold--well, it took gold to put 'em here!"

In 1900 when his brother Charles from Arizona returned for a visit, the brothers threw their arms around one another and tears of joy ran down their cheeks. Levi wore a beard. The Allen brothers were good clean men. Levi's motto was "I want to do all the good I can in this life and as little harm as possible." At 73 years of age he had a serious operation but because of his clean life he was given renewed vitality. Some of his counsels and advice were "Be obedient to those in authority", "honesty is the best policy;" "look for the good in everyone;" "the Mormon creed is mind your own business;" "suffer wrong rather than do wrong;" "all this and heaven too;" "waste not, want not." J. C. Larson said at Levi's funeral, "No man in Cache Valley paid more honest tithes or taxes. He loved his Church and government.

Having married late in life he really appreciated his wife and family. His great desire was to provide for them. Each son received 160 acres of land, each girl 10 acres and his wife received a home and 70 acres of land. Levi and Andrew each gave 20 acres for what is now known as the "Missionary Farm", proceeds of which are used for Ward maintenance and missionary expense. He always kept a two year supply of wheat for food and seed. He had to the last a firm testimony, he dearly loved the memory of his mother, and was thankful for his blessings. He loved to see his fields of golden grain and to rock and sing the hymns and old time songs, such as "Come, Come Ye Saints" and "The Girl I Left Behind Me." He was a High Priest when he died, 18 Feb. 1928 at his home in Cove. He is buried in the Richmond Cemetery.

When looking at his photo in later life, one of his nieces remarked, "That is the most perfect man I have ever known. In all my sorrow and trouble in polygamy he was better to me than my husband and father."

LIVINIA MERIAM HENSON

Livinia Meriam Henson was born 23 July 1871 at Franklin, Onieda, Idaho. She was the daughter of Alfred and Mary Ann Sewell Henson who had been converted to the Gospel in Denshanger, Northamptonshire, England. They came to America in 1868 where they settled in Franklin, Idaho, farming for a living on a farm one mile south of town. They lived under very severe conditions in an unfinished log house while the snow outside was two feet deep.

One winter she became ill with typhoid fever and was in bed six weeks. During the fifth week she called for Uncle Thomas Durrant to come and bless her. It relieved her. While the family was eating a beef steak supper, Uncle Thomas gave her a piece of beef to chew for gum. This was her first nourishment in three weeks. She gradually overcame the severe illness.

Livinia had the opportunity to go to school for only three weeks. Though she wanted an education her parents could not afford the three dollars tuition for each six weeks term. She learned to knit when she was nine. She washed and cleaned house for an old lady, Sister Clayton, and after she finished her work Sister Clayton helped her make a pair of stockings out of blue and white clouded yarn. These stockings lasted three years of hard wear. She worked at tending little children, washing floors and scrubbing on the board for fifty cents a week. When she was twelve she earned seventy-five cents a week which was later changed to one dollar. By the time she was seventeen she was earning $1.50 per week. With that much money she could buy herself a pair of shoes ($1) and five yards of dress calico (50¢). She often said, "I thought I was rich and longed to go to school again but Father said I could learn enough at home. Girls did not need to learn to read--but to be neat and learn to sew and cook. If they did that, it would keep them busy."

In October 1888 she went to work for Andrew and his wife, Minerva Allen. They had seven children and Levi, Andrew's brother, to cook for. She was scrubbing a porch floor on her hands and knees, singing at the top of her voice when Levi came around the corner to see her father. Levi later told her that at the time he said to himself, "She will make some man a good wife. I little thought I would be the lucky man." The courtship lasted from October to December 11 when they were married. It was the rule then to be baptized over again so they cut a hole in the ice on 10 Dec. and she was baptized. She did not get a cold from the icy water. Her wedding dress was eleven yards of black velvet which Levi gave her.

After they were married they went back to Andrew's home and she kept on with her work for the family as Andrew was away with his second wife, Ann Spackman. During this time his first wife, Minerva, gave birth to a baby boy. Levi and Livinia took care of all the work and stayed until 1 Mar. 1889 when they moved into the house Levi had bought from his brother, Charles.

Because of having a large farm they had hired men all summer. Livinia served meals to the thrashers each season for seventeen years with from 25 to 30 men for three meals each day. Nineteen meals was the least and forty was the most. She felt it helped repay Minerva for the seventeen years she looked after Levi's needs. She had her babies just before and just after the threshers came. She also was kept busy canning from 300 to 400 quarts of food each year, sewing for the family and making rugs and quilts for household use. She made all her husband's shirts and excelled in crocheting, knitting and tatting. She was called to many homes in the Ward in cases of sickness and death. She was given a special award in 1947 for 60 years of visiting teaching in the Relief Society. For 23 years she was counselor in the Primary and also served as counselor in the Y. L. M. I. A. The Bishop asked her twice to be Primary President but because she was unable to read she declined.

The readings she gave at parties and the parts she had in little plays in the Ward were learned with the help of her husband. He would read them over until she memorized them. In her Patriarchial Blessing it stated if she were faithful she would be a leader with her sisters and a mother to the motherless. She wondered about this because she felt herself too uneducated to be a leader. She prayed for help when Bishop Bair called her to be President of the Relief Society. She served in this position for six years. When her son, Levi, was in Germany on a mission, her daughter Lydia, then in high school, taught her how to read and write so she could write to him.

She had good health all her life. After her seventh child was born and was seven months old she helped wallpaper twenty rooms. She was a great help to her family and neighbors. When her husband died it took all the life out of her. She said, "Ours was a good, successful marriage, although the romance was unusual, as Levi was forty-six and I seventeen when we were married."

Her last child married on their forty-first anniversary and Livinia felt she was alone. She went out nursing and though not keeping an accurate account of how many confinements she had, she did mention that in 1932 she had twenty cases, one pair of twins. Six of these were her own new grandchildren.

She married James F. Wilcox, Sr., 16 Nov. 1932 and moved to Burley, Idaho for three and one half years. As he had two unmarried sons she received the answer to her blessing, "--mother to the motherless." All ten of his children loved her like a mother and she loved them. They moved back to the old home in Cove, and lived there happily until she died of a heart ailment 9 Oct. 1950.

HISTORY OF COVE

The Coveville Ward (as it was first known and now changed to Cove in 1946) is situated in the northeast part of Cache County. It is joined on the north by the city of Franklin, Idaho, and on the west by Lewiston, Utah, the south by Richmond, Utah and has as its eastern boundary a portion of the beautiful Wasatch Mountains. John Goaslind suggested the name Coveville, owing to the geographical location on the east and the foothills and elevation surrounding the community, it being a semi-circle.

All homes of this community are connected with the Utah Power and Light System which makes it possible for modern conveniences. It is so situated that it has good lateral roads joining the State Highway U. S. 91 within three miles of the cities of Lewiston, Richmond, and Franklin and is only seventeen miles from Logan, Utah.

Agriculture is and always has been the basic industry of this community. Other industries are dairying, poultry raising, fur raising, feeding of beef cattle and dry farming. The principal crops grown are alfalfa, wheat, oats, barley, sugar beets, alfalfa seed and peas.

As early as the year 1862, Goudy Hogan and William D. Hendricks built a grist mill on the bank of High Creek. This mill had many difficulties in getting established but it eventually became a paying industry. A wool carding mill was also established by the grist mill and was operated until it was burned by fire.

In 1860 the pioneer settlers of Franklin built a dam across High Creek and conducted water from the same into the country lying immediately south of Franklin. Robert Gregory and Mrs. Eliza Ann Bickmore Allen and her six sons and one daughter were the first settlers who located in that district of the country now included in Cove Ward. Robert Gregory located there in 1871 with his family. The Allens located on the quarter section on which Cove Meeting House now stands. Mark Preece and other settlers arrived about the same time. In 1874 Thomas Titensor and others cast their lot with the earlier settlers. In May 1873 the settlement was further augmented by the arrival of John Comish and family as well as other families. These early inhabitants of Cove (who nearly all came from Franklin and Richmond) settled at different points below the canals which had been commenced in 1860 and afterwards enlarged.

The first school was held in the vacant home of Andrew Lee Allen. He moved to a new house farther up the road. It was a log building 12x14 feet. The teacher's desk as well as those of the pupils were made of boxes, and the seats were of slabs. The first teacher was Miss Aurelia Fifield. Sunday Schools and meetings were held in this building for many years. It still stood in 1945 when it was destroyed by fire.

In 1876 a school district was organized and in the summer of 1877 a frame school house 18x28 feet was built about a mile northeast of where the present meeting house now stands. The school district was divided and a one-room school was built up in the northeast part of the community. Sometime later the original one-room school was abandoned and a two-room brick building was built on the meeting house square. Then later two more rooms were built on the brick building. The upper district joined the lower one, and again there was only one district. This one operated until the school board deemed it advisable to consolidate the school with the Richmond school. Later the people of the community felt that the merits of the Junior High School system were best, and so the children were sent to Lewiston Junior High and the High School children continued to go to North Cache High School in Richmond.

Red brick school house was built

The flour mill of Cove was situated 1 1/2 miles south east of the meeting house, near the High Creek road. It was built and owned by Wm. D. Hendricks. He hired men to get the logs out of the canyon, which they hewed down with their hand axes. The Burrs which ground the flour was about 4 feet in diameter and 18 inches thick. This mill furnished flour for the Cove people and shipped many carloads to Montana and Idaho. The Indians were not under subjection at this time, so the Mill had to be guarded at night by men of the Ward to keep the Indians from burning it down. A cording Mill was built on the south side of it which was eventually burned down.

During the year 1877 the Saints were organized into a branch of the Richmond Ward with Charles H. Allen as President. The early meetings were held in private homes until the school was built. As early as 1877 a Sunday School was commenced which has continued ever since. A Relief Society was organized May 12, 1878. This association has continued in existence since that time.

In 1882 President Allen moved away from the branch and no one was appointed to preside at Cove until the Ward was organized on November 28, 1882. The first bishop was John C. Larsen.

In January 1883 a Y. M. M. I. A. was organized and a Y. L. M. I. A. was organized in November of the same year; these two organizations are still functioning. The Primary was also organized during the above named year.

In 1884 a commencement was made by the people of Cove for the erection of a new chapel. This was built by donations. It was just a one-room frame building 30x44, but since then two additions have been made to it. Now, sixty-three years later, plans are again being made for the erection of a new building. Eliza Bickmore Allen and her six sons donated twenty acres of land to the Church. The present Chapel is located on this acreage.

The year 1886 witnessed a number of improvements in the Ward. This year about nine hundred shade trees were planted on the meeting house grounds. They grew sufficiently to make a beautiful grove around the chapel which was finished in 1888.

John Biggs was the first L. D. S. Missionary to be sent from Cove and since then many have filled successful missions.

Since the retirement of Bishop John C. Larsen who served thirty-three years, there have been four Bishops--namely, H. Lester Bair; Levi H. Allen; Raymond L. Allen and Joseph F. Day.

The Ward owns 10 acres of land as meeting house grounds. It consists of fine rising ground, the highest in that part of the Valley, sloping to all sides and beautifully ornamented with shade trees. Immediately south of the meeting house ground is another 10 acres of land known as tithing property, on which a fine granary with a basement under it and a large barn has been constructed. The people of Cove are known as good, thrifty citizens. The meeting house stands about 100 rods east of the railway track and county road.

Cove has twenty-five springs which supply water for culinary, domestic and garden purposes besides its two culinary systems which pipe the water to most of the homes for families who do not have their private systems. There are also four irrigation systems which water the land of this vicinity.

Although small in population, the community has been progressive in keeping up with civic organizations. There are the following organizations; Farm Bureau; 4-H Clubs; Future Farmers; Scouts and Daughters of the Pioneers.

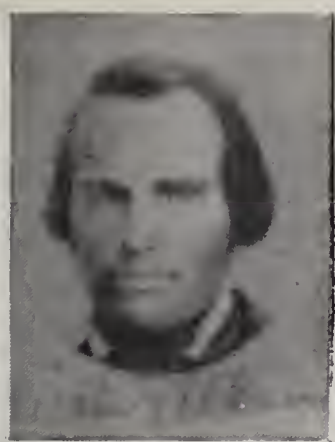

The John Comish Camp of the Daughters of Utah Pioneers was first organized on March 23, 1928 with Chloe R. Harrison as President, Faye C. Allen and Wavie H. Allen as Vice Presidents. In March 1929 a banquet was held for members and their partners. One has been held each year since. The historian, Susannah P. Allen has been active in gathering and recording forty-five histories.

Many celebrations have been held in the community. Among the most outstanding is the Horse Show which has been held for eleven consecutive years and has gained much popularity throughout Cache Valley.

Beautiful High Creek Canyon is a short drive from the community and is an ideal recreation spot. It furnishes fishing, hunting and a pleasant picnic ground.

When Eliza Ann Allen and Manasseh Barnes were married they homesteaded 160 acres of land on High Creek in Cove, Utah. There they built their home and lived the rest of their lives. They raised their large family of twelve children (one died in infancy) in Cove. Manasseh was an active church worker, serving as M. L. A. president and superintendent of the Sunday School. They were generous and everybody loved them. Eliza Ann helped many poor people and she never knowingly let anyone go hungry.

Manasseh Elijah Barnes lived in Cove with his parents, Manasseh and Eliza Barnes, until he was 21 years of age. He moved to Jackson Hole, Wyoming and settled there for a few years but became dissatisfied and started to travel. He visited his people in 1912 shortly before his mother died and was not heard from again for 21 years. His later years were spent in Salt Lake City where he died at the age of sixty-two.

(This excerpt was taken from a sermon by Pres. G. A. Hogan of Lewiston, Utah at the funeral of James Carson Allen and his wife, Betsy)

"The Allens have always stood out in this northern section of Cache Valley as builders. Brother Allen was one of the first men to build a fine home in which to rear his family. He was ambitious. He saw into the future. There was something other than the mercenary things of life with these good people. They sought to do something that would bring to them salvation in the Kingdom of our Father..... They were not pretentious. They lived their lives modestly."

Andrew Bickmore Allen was called "Hickory" by his daddy because he was quick and strong. It was a nickname that lasted all his life. His father died when he was six years old and his mother had a hard time providing for her family. As he had to go to school barefoot in the severe winter, he would run as far as he could, take off cap and stand on it, then grab his cap and run on again. He helped his brothers, William and Carson, herd cows in the summer. He could do a man's work binding wheat in the fields when in his early teens. At sixteen he went to the Logan Canyon and chopped lumber for the Logan Temple and received the same wages as the best choppers. He carried mortar to the masons who were building the temple walls. He was always handy and quick in whatever he did. He was an active church worker.

Faith promoting story: On May 18, 1948 at the Andrew Bickmore Allen home an event occurred which made all involved grateful for the goodness of the Lord.

Susanna Preece Allen and her son, Ivan, and family were busy with the activities caused by a thunderstorm. Ivan was trying to finish milking the herd of cows before the electrical power went off as was the custom in an electrical storm. A loud roar came and the lights went. The children became excited but Grandma Allen calmed them by saying, "Now children, don't get excited." Ivan's wife suggested each say their prayers. Another roar and flash of lightning came, and then all at once the most deafening roar any of them had ever heard came from the kitchen. The brightest flash of light any had seen came from the kitchen stove. Fire came from the ceiling in the kitchen and burned black holes in the light fixtures. They ran into Grandma Allen's apartment only to find her standing in the center of the room with her hands to her ears. The same thing had happened to her stove. Then Ivan burst in and told how the barn, himself, and the nine cows lined up in the stauchions had been struck. He said, "I just went down so hard it bent my big toe back. It was only a moment and I was coming back up when I noticed the nine cows had all fallen and were scrambling up." He had two large blisters the size of a man's hand on his shoulders. The group counted their blessings that they had been spared.

HENRY HEBER had very little schooling and had to walk over three miles to get this as his widowed mother and family lived on a homestead north of Richmond. He went on a mission in 1892 to the Indian Territory (now Oklahoma). He was a successful farmer and stock raiser, and had a lot to do with the organization and development of the Cove Ward. He and his family moved to Logan Utah, in the fall of 1919. He took an active part in the Ward and spent eight years as a home missionary. He was a High Priest.

After Joseph and Phebe were married several years, he was called to the Southern States Mission. She taught school while he was away. In the South the elders were constantly being mobbed. Joseph was mobbed three times, badly beaten once, and was saved from hanging only by the intervention of the sheriff and his deputies. After his return from the mission field, he was active in Church and Temple work and was County Commissioner of Cache County. He served two missions in the Southern California Mission. In their later lives Joseph and Phebe lived in Santa Ana, California, but were both buried in Richmond, Utah.

Life at the Joseph Smith Allen home was pleasant in spite of trials. Phebe was a good homemaker and kept a cheerful atmosphere within her house. There was lots of hard work to do and after it was done there was always time for play. The children were allowed to entertain their friends and take part in the local holiday celebrations. The children were all taught to handle farm animals and horses. Joseph carried a scar on his forehead where a horse kicked him.

ALICE FOSTER PURNELL

Alice Foster Purnell spent her girlhood days in Richmond, Utah and Mapleton, Idaho. She had a gentle upbringing and learned how to work. After her father's death, Alice and her family returned to Cove and lived up the canyon where they suffered severe snow storms during the winter. While they were snowed in one winter Ernest Purnell came on horseback to visit them. Ernest was married to Alice's cousin, Lydia Susan Goaslind. The purpose of his visit was to ask for Alice to become his plural wife. After private interviews with the mother and then with the daughter, the marriage was set for 12 March 1885 in the Logan Temple.

Alice lived with her mother for about two years after her marriage. She had been Ernest's wife in name only until she reached her eighteenth year when she went with him to Nebraska on railroad work. She served as cook for the crew of men until she returned to Cove to give birth to her first child. She became quite efficient in being a midwife for herself as she was alone at the birth of three of her seven children.

Alice was left in Preston for over twenty years while her husband took his first wife and children to Canada to farm. She was known as "the widow" and through the kindnesses of neighbors and charitable organizations they had sufficient for their needs until the girls grew old enough to help make the living. Alice was a gifted seamstress and went out to sew. She also helped many mothers wean their babies. She was kind, humble, and charitable throughout her lifetime. She bore humiliation gracefully and reared a family of good, upright citizens. Through her wisdom they enjoyed excellent health.

Alice has spent most of her later years in Salt Lake City where she was able to associate with her husband again. In 1935 she became the house mother at Temple Cottage. She has enjoyed beauty and life about her and bears a strong testimony of the Gospel.

Warner spent his youth in Richmond and Cove before moving to Mesa, Arizona. When in his early twenties he returned to Utah for his schooling and while there had the opportunity to accompany the first group of saints to pioneer in Alberta, Canada. They settled at Cardston and he had the privilege of plowing the first land after the first four rows were plowed by the leading authorities. He helped build homes and roads before returning to Utah in the fall. He filled a Southern States mission, and served in the Mesa Ward Bishopric for over fifteen years, and was a High Counselman for seven years.

He pioneered in Chino Valley where he led the erection of a beautiful chapel before moving into Prescott. He was appointed president of the Prescott Branch and was instrumental in erecting a $30,000 blue granite chapel. He lived an exemplary life and was a guide and inspiration to his family. He did not have a lot of worldly wealth but left his children the greatest heritage one can receive in his testimony of the divinity of Jesus Christ and truthfulness of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Fanny Peterson Allen was reared in a large polygamous family and she learned early in life what severe trials and work were. Her mother went out to work and a breach developed between her father and mother which was never overcome. Fanny remained with her father and was taught by her father's wives and children that Fanny's mother was a "bad woman". Her father found her crying one day and when she told him she was crying because she had a bad mother he became very angry and told her that her mother was a very good woman, as good as any other member of the family. He then took her in to the house, called the family together, and chastized them for telling her falsehoods. She corresponded with her mother until her mother died.

Fanny and Warner reared a good family inspite of Fanny's broken health due to overwork in her youth.

Laura Belle Ballou Bacus was converted to the church from the Baptist faith. She had been church organist and active all her life as both her grandfather's were Baptist ministers. She knew the Bible well and felt that the Churches she investigated lacked something. After she was married and had two sons she first heard the Elders of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. She investigated their teachings and accepted baptism. Her husband died sixteen days before their scheduled baptism but Laura went ahead and with her oldest son was baptised as her husband would have wished it. She has worked actively in the church and has been outstanding in the music departments and temple work.

John Seymour spent his first eleven years in Cove before his family moved to Mesa, Arizona. He has been extremely active in missionary work and colonization. He has made his livelihood by farming and canal building. His first mission was in the Southern States; the second in the Eastern States; and the third in the Southwest Indian Mission among the Pimas. He and his wife have financed twenty-one years of missionary work and have contributed funds for temple work. No request from the church was refused whether great or small. He has been a faithful ward teacher for fifty years without missing one month. While supporting one missionary he prospered greatly and was so encouraged that he supported two more after the first had returned. His financial status reversed and he became almost bankrupt, barely able to keep the missionaries out. Later he was asked why he had not become discouraged in the Gospel because of this situation and he replied, "Whether I get rich or go broke while I keep a missionary out doesn't change the fact that the Gospel is true."

His wife, Barbara Phelps, came to Mesa from Montpelier, Idaho when she was a year old. They suffered the rigors of pioneer life including a smallpox epidemic. She recalls having her shoes blacked with soot and grease before she could go to Sunday School and Primary. She was energetic and capable with a nice singing voice. Their marriage has been humble and devout. Ten of their twelve children grew to maturity and are active in the Church. She milked cows to support herself and family and to supply her husband while he was on two missions. She joined her husband on his third mission and they did a splendid job among the Indians at Santon, Arizona. She has worked in all the auxiliaries and at present, at the age of seventy-five, she is still teaching Primary.

Adelaide lived in Utah until 1882 when her father moved the family to Mesa, Arizona. She started her schooling in Mesa and also took dressmaking lessons. She has been active in the church and has been an excellent teacher of the Gospel. After her mother died Adelaide took over the burden of caring for the younger children. She married Horace Cornelius Fuller whose people had been sent as colonizers to the Verde Valley. He was an outstanding horseman and his ability to handle animals was well-known. He was an athlete and wrestler and was well liked by all those who knew him. Adelaide and Horace lost three of their seven children through sickness so she decided to take a course in obstetrics and nursing. Horace "Hod" died of influenza and pneumonia in 1904 leaving four children for Adelaide to care for. She sewed and nursed for a living until she married Charles Peterson. He was a farmer, dairyman and legislator. She continued to do her Church work and took a leading part in the Stake Primary. After the death of her husband, Charles, her life has been devoted to Temple work and family genealogy. She has made hundreds of burial shoes and Temple clothing. She has a fine testimony of the Gospel and is a diligent worker in righteous endeavors.

Clarinda came to Mesa from Utah with her pioneer family and she had her schooling in Mesa. After her older sister married, Clarinda took over the care of her Father's first family. Adelaide advised her whenever she needed it. After the children were self-supporting, she attended B. Y. C. at Logan and became a teacher. She married Thomas Wilcox who had five children by his first wife. They lived in Mesa and in Chino Valley until Thomas died. She has been faithful to her testimony of the Gospel and has been an active worker in the Church.

- Elijah Allen came from Cove with his family in 1882. He attended Mesa Public Schools, B. Y. A. at Provo, and the Univeristy of Utah where he received his LLB degree. He served as a member of the Lehi School Board and was president of the Mesa High School Board. He was a member of the Arizona State Legislature and was a member of the Board of Regents of Arizona State College.

In 1906 Elijah was called on a mission to the Eastern States. To the humiliation of many of his friends this call was changed to a four and one half year call to serve in the local Indian Mission. Instead of refusing to accept this change he humbled himself and moved his little family to Lehi where he served his mission among the Pima and Papago and Maricopa Indians. After his release he was a counselor to the Maricopa Stake President for four years. In 1942 he was called to serve in the Northern States Mission. He accepted the call but to his surprise he was sent instead to preside as Mission President over the California Mission. He has always felt that these four years as Mission President were granted him as a reward for his humility in accepting his first call to the Indian Mission. He is at present a member of the Maricopa Stake High Council. He is still practicing law in Mesa, Arizona. In December 1951 he was honored as being the member with most years as a high priest - 44 years.

He married Emma Pearl Nielson who had grown up in northern New Mexico. She attended private schools until she went to Provo to the B. Y. A. She was a very dependable and responsible woman. She served as president of the Papago Relief Society while her husband was serving an Indian mission. She was Maricopa Stake Primary secretary and later president.

Tom and Julia Watkins have been active Church workers. Tom and his people were converted to the Gospel in Mississippi and Julia grew up in Mesa. After their marriage they made their home in Mesa. During their lifetime they have bought and sold many homes and have lived in Arizona, Utah, Wyoming and California. They are both of a very happy and cheerful nature. They have worked unitedly throughout their married life.

One morning it was necessary for her to take three of her sons to the hospital. The car had a flat tire and they had no spare, so Tom filled the tire with a cotton sack and she started "bumpily" along her way. People along the way would call out to Julia "You have a flat tire", and she would cheerily nod her head and keep on going. They got home about four in the afternoon, made the children comfortable, and at 9 P.M. she gave birth to her seventh son.

Julia helped on a committee to outline a program for better Home Evenings. This outline was published by the Church and recommended to be used in all L. D. S. homes. Thomas built the first traveling hay baler in the West.

Ashael early (six years) learned the power of prayer. One dark night he lost his prize top and after a fruitless search he remembered the teachings of his parents about prayer. In all confidence he prayed to find his top and his prayer was granted. He was a mischievous boy in school and got the blame for many things he didn't do. He helped his mother milk cows to keep his father in the mission field. While working in Bluewater, New Mexico he was called to the Southern States Mission. He started out with a hat, a suit case, and one shirt besides what he wore. His Aunt Hattie Miller stopped him and told him to come in and she supplied him with many of the necessities for missionary life. As his mission was during the first world war he was often called a "slacker". He was mobbed once and had the unusual experience of being poisoned once by a woman who much to her surprise found him alive the next morning. She said she was testing the Lord concerning, "These signs shall follow them that believe, they could drink deadly poison and it should not hurt them." He was sick all the next day but kept on working.

He was blessed with many manifestations of the Spirit. On one occasion he saw many devils enter a building. He and his companion were sent to a small settlement to dedicate a member's grave. As it was Sunday, they announced they would hold a meeting at the schoolhouse at 8 o'clock (the regular time and meeting place of another church.) Everyone came out to see who would hold the meeting and the preacher of the other church was very angry. Ashael told him that the Lord said, "If you are not one, you are not mine", and suggested that they hold their meeting together. After much haggling Ashael was assigned to preach first. After his sermon and dismissal he took a seat in the audience and exercised all faith that no evil spirits would be able to operate that evening. (His companion secretly hoped that they would as he wanted to see the show.) As the other minister conducted the service of song and prayer, Ashael sat and perspired until he was wringing wet. Suddenly, the spirits came! "I saw them enter in at a forty-five degree angle just below the ceiling on both sides; one of them struck me in the spine from one end to the other. At that instant the preacher began to shake and tremble and jumped up and down, a woman (who seemed to be one of the leaders) had a baby, a few months old, on her lap, she was sitting on the stand; she jumped up and the baby rolled onto the floor. The whole house was in an uproar. I looked at my companion and he had a very distressed look on his face. I nodded toward the door and he immediately got up and started for the door. The people commenced to shout "You can't endure sound doctrine". They went out of the building to a clump of oaks and he asked his companion if he had enough, and the companion agreed that he had. They knelt in prayer and then returned to the schoolhouse and commanded that through the priesthood they held that the spirits depart. The house became so quiet that you could hear a pin drop, and they were grateful that they had been masters of the situation.

After his marriage to Ida, they moved to Los Angeles where he worked for the police department until his retirement in 1943. Since then he and his wife have filled another mission in the Spanish-American Mission and are at present farming in Farmington, New Mexico.

Ida and her family were driven from Mexico by the Revolutionists. She worked at the O. S. Stapley Hardware Co. as secretary until her marriage to Ashael.

Joe and Blanche have lived in Arizona all their lives. Joe grew up in Pine and filled a mission in the Southern States. In August, 1925 he became a city of Mesa Police officer and has served as a police officer ever since. He is active as a High Priest in the Mesa Second Ward and is a Ward Teacher. Blanche, being one of the older children in the family, was very responsible in helping with the younger children. She became her father's helper milking cows when they found that being around cows helped her lose a hacking cough which developed in the winters.

She developed a severe case of typhoid fever while her father was in the mission field and she was told that if she would be good that Ashael would give her a pony (Peggy) for her very own. After her recovery, Peggy and Blanche spent many days playing hookey from school. Blanche attended school at Tempe Normal and later taught at St. Johns before her marriage. Her steadfastness and tenacity has been a source of inspiration to all. Joe and Blanche have lived humbly and faithfully, teaching their family to do the same.

4. DELIA LILLIAN ALLEN b. 12 Mar. 1946 Mesa, Maricopa, Arizona, (adopted) d. 17 Sept. 1950 (sealed 12 July 1950 in Logan Temple).

John "Bat" and Delia grew up in the Mesa area and took an active part in the Church. As they grew older and married they were able to work together in many of their Church activities. They both came from farm families and obtained college educations. "Bat" was an outstanding athlete and later did a lot of coaching. He has served as Superintendent of the Fort Grant Industrial School for boys, Dean of Men at Arizona State College and farmed besides his teaching. In recent years he has mainly farmed and carried on various business interests.

When their son John was six years old he became desperately ill with a kidney ailment, (nephritis). His condition became so serious he was given 24 hours to live. That night John and Delia called in two newly returned missionaries to administer to him and he was promised that he would live and be well and strong. The next morning the doctor was astonished at the change that had come over the patient. Within a week all signs of the sickness had left him. Today Johnny is an outstanding collegiate athlete.

Besides teaching school and farming Delia and John have served many hours each week in the Church. He is at present Bishop of the Mesa Ninth Ward. Their adopted daughter recently passed away after a short illness of leukemia.

4. LOREN PACE ALLEN b. 22 Dec. 1946 Tucson, Pima, Arizona

Gove grew up in the Mesa and Gilbert area and was outstanding for his athletic ability. Shortly before completing college at Flagstaff he received a call to the Eastern States Mission. While in the Mission Field he and his companion played basketball with the Hancock Pippins of Hancock County, Maryland. A week before a big tournament they received their transfer to another part of the Mission. The manager sent in a petition to the Mission President requesting them to stay longer. About fifty people signed it, among whom were the Catholic Father, Protestant Ministers, bankers, and prominent business men of the town. They were allowed to stay to play the game and they won. At the close of the season Gove was presented with a trophy for being the most valuable player and best support on the team. Many doors were opened to them through this activity. Upon his return home he completed school and began teaching Industrial Arts. He married Maggie Pace who had grown up in Woodruff and who had also been a student at Flagstaff College. They both were active school teachers. He served as Bishop of Fort Thomas Ward for a short time before moving to Colorado to get his Master of Arts Degree. He became ill with leukemia so he moved his family to Mesa so he could get them established before his death. Since his death Maggie has continued teaching school. His children take a prominent part in school and Church activities in Mesa.

Rosanna, Ann, Clarinda
Julia and Ethel

Rosanna Allen

Rosanna owes her hands to the faith of her father as he would not let the doctor amputate them when they were badly frozen. Andrew sat by his three year old daughter's bed day and night, anointing her hands with olive oil and changing the linens. This went on for several months. His constant prayers were answered and she lost only the tips of her fingers. As she grew older and learned of her father's faith she dedicated the use of her hands to her father. She cared for her father and his first wife Minerva, until their deaths, then she cared for her brother, Thomas. She now resides at Salt Lake City.

David Kimball Allen has been an outstanding physician and surgeon holding the degree of Doctor of Medicine. He is at present on the Orthopedic Staff of the Veterans' Hospital and L. D. S. Hospital at Salt Lake City. The following is taken from the Utah Biography Volume II:

"In November, 1917, he enlisted and was sent to Camp Travis, Texas, as orthopedic surgeon in charge of that department. In April, 1918, he was transferred to Philadelphia for special study at the University of Pennsylvania, and in August of that year went overseas, being attached to the British in the Welsh Metropolitan Hospital at Cardiff, Wales, doing reconstruction surgery. For a time he was engaged in similar work at the Alder Hey Military Hospital at Liverpool, and in December, 1918, joined the United States Base Hospital No. 58 in France and was acting commander in charge of records. In April, 1919, he received his honorable discharge at Camp Jackson, North Carolina. He went into the military service as a first lieutenant and was promoted to captain in August, 1918, and is now a major in the Medical Officers Reserve Corps.

His war service overseas brought him great opportunities to familiarize himself with the great work being accomplished in orthopedic surgery, and that special work has been emphasized in his private practice since returning to Salt Lake City. He is a member of the staff of the Latter Day Saints Hospital at Salt Lake, is a fellow of the American College of Surgeons and a member of the Utah State, Salt Lake County and American Medical Associations.

He belongs to the American Legion, and since 1919 has been attending specialist to the Veterans Bureau. He is a member of the Military Surgeons Medical Corps and the Gorgas Memorial Institute of Tropical and Preventive Medicine. His wife, Emma Lucinda, served as Church organist at Park City, Utah; worked in the LeGrand Ward Relief Society; and held membership in the Delta Gammas' Mothers' Club and the Auxiliary Salt Lake County Medical Society. Millie and Zeeta Margaret have both had extensive schooling. Millie teaches English at East High School in Salt Lake City and Zeeta Margaret's profession is that of a legal secretary.

1. DAVID WALTER ALLEN b. 31 Mar. 1925

Isaac Walter Allen graduated from Rush Medical College in Chicago and took his internship at the Grant Hospital. He returned to Utah and was Acting Assistant Surgeon for the War Veterans Bureau at the Utah State Agricultural College. He was a lieutenant in World War I. He became Superintendent Doctor of the County Hospital at Moab, Utah in the spring of 1920. It was just beginning with three rooms and under his careful guidance, hard work, and financial aid it has grown to thirty rooms. He established clinics and health centers in the surrounding localities. He was known to answer the call for help regardless of weather or distance. Once he saved a woman's life by riding three relay horses over the snow covered mountains in the night. He was an excellent surgeon and practiced for twenty-eight years. He retired in 1948. Daisy Allen was left a widow with four children so Doctor Allen married her and she has made him a happy home.

David Walter (Dick) lives in Los Angeles where he is assistant manager of Health and Accident Department of the Continental Casualty Company.

Will and Lydia Titensor

LYDIA CLARINDA ALLEN b. 12 Dec. 1867 Oxford, Oneida, Idaho d. 30 Mar. 1947 Thayne, Lincoln, Wyoming dau. of Sidney David and Margaret Ann (Cooper) Allen md. 2 Nov. 1885 Cassia, Idaho John William Titensor b. 31 Mar. 1866 Richmond, Cache, Utah d. 2 May 1944 Thayne, Lincoln, Wyoming son of Thomas and Sarah (Robbins) Titensor.

I, Lydia, began life in Oxford, Idaho in a two room log house with a dirt roof. We lived in that home for two years. My mother liked to move and in their married life my father built eight different houses for her. When I was a child the Indians were the fear of the white people. At times the pioneers would have to move into the "fort" which was a large public building with a fireplace in one end of it. As well as being a "fort" it was also used for school, church and social activities. When the Indians would start a raid the people would go to the "fort" for protection. Grandfather Agrippa Cooper knew all the Indian languages and the people would send him out to make peace with the Indians. Grandmother Cooper was the only midwife around for forty miles. When I was nine years old she started training me to be her nurse. She took me with her wherever she went. We traveled on horseback and many times it was snowing so badly that we could not see the road more than a rod ahead of us. From the time I was nine until I was eighteen years old I lived with my Grandmother and assisted her with her work. I spent my spare time studying medical and doctor books. When I was sixteen years of age I became engaged to marry George Smith but soon after he was killed in an explosion. I later married John William Titensor and lived in Utah until we moved to Wyoming.

For forty-five years we lived on a homestead east of Thayne and suffered all the hardships and privations that go with pioneer life. We sold our homestead and bought a home in Thayne to enjoy during our old age. Children.

8. IDA MAY PURNELL b. 4 Nov. 1895 Whitney, Idaho

9. JOHN GOASLIND PURNELL b. 4 Dec. 1897 Logan, Cache, Utah

Lydia Susannah Goaslind Purnell was raised in Franklin, Idaho and attended all the schools available in the area. She and her husband, Ernest Purnell, grew up together and when Susan was seventeen they were married at Logan. Throughout their lives they shared each others love and confidence. Susan taught school while he farmed, worked in the canyon, and freighted. They worked hard and had a fine family.

When they had been married seven years, they entered the order of plural marriage. Of this relationship Susan said, "We entered the order of plural marriage. I said "we" because it was with my full consent; believing it to be a divine principle and required of all Saints who desired Celestial glory. I have never seen the day I regretted having taken that step. We have each tried to do right in living the same although it was some trial for each of us."

In 1902 they moved to Cardston, Canada from Logan. They had lived in Logan so their children could have better educational facilities at the B. Y. college. The time spent in Canada was filled with hard work, many disappointments, and adverse circumstances. She learned to love the people and enjoyed her life and labors there as she was very active in the Relief Society and was in close contact with many people under varying conditions.

Her later years were spent doing temple work in Salt Lake City. She bore a strong testimony of the Gospel.

Ernest Purnell spent his youth in Franklin, Idaho where he performed the usual tasks required of the pioneers of that day. He helped stand guard against the Indians, freighted supplies, and farmed. He was a man of responsibility and ambition. He married his childhood sweetheart, Susan Goaslind, and their marriage proved to be a happy one, though beset by many reverses and hardships. They remained devoted to each other and lived together continuously for seventy years and nine months.

Of their early married life, his wife related this story which reveals his true character. "When our first baby was about a year old my husband went on a freighting trip as he had done previously, and had been in the habit of smoking cigarettes, drinking tea and coffee and sometimes liquor. He thought, 'What kind of a father am I going to be,' and resolved right then and there to quit all such habits, which he did and there has been no circumstance or temptation that has caused him to break that vow."

Alice Foster became his second wife in plural marriage and with the help of his two wives he became the father of sixteen children. His life was filled with hard work and valuable experience. He retained a keen mentality up to his death.

George

Charles David Goaslind filled a mission to Great Britian, and was Oneida Stake Clerk and tithing clerk for sixteen years. He also served as second counselor to the Oneida and Franklin Stake Presidents. He was employed at the Church Historians Office for thirty years.

Clara Parkinson Goaslind and Caroline Parkinson Goaslind came from English immigrant parentage. They were both well educated. Caroline was an experienced school teacher. Both were faithful to their testimonies of the Gospel and were active in the Church. Caroline has been an active worker in the Daughters of the Utah Pioneers and an ardent temple worker.

Clarinda Hannah was baptized twice, once by mistake. As she was going to Sunday School and seeing others being baptized she joined them. This caused her to miss Sunday School and distressed her mother when she came walking in with her wet clothes. She was serious and her most religious impression was when she saw her mother kneeling in secret prayer. She was very capable and handy. Elias filled a mission to the Southern States and another to Norway. They have been outstanding in temple work.

4. ALTON ELLERMAN LARSEN b. 27 Jan. 1929 Whitney, Franklin, Idaho

Melvin and Hedvig are active Church workers. Hedvig came to America from Germany when she was ten. Melvin had a severe collar bone break in his youth which mended improperly. His parents prayed that he would be healed little knowing how it was to be accomplished. Later Melvin was playing on some parked freight cars and as the engine attached itself to the cars, they lurched and he fell. In order to save himself from going beneath the wheels of the train he awkwardly caught hold of the crossbar to break his fall. The strain rebroke his shoulder and pulled the bone into its normal position. As he had been disobedient in going to the railroad yards he bore the pain without telling his parents. He filled two missions to the Southern States.
